Ohio Assembly campaign bills bring collision

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio House, following a brief session, today postponed until later in the day a vote on Gov. John J. Gilligan's campaign finance legislation.

Another floor session was set for 1:30 p.m.

The Senate was to vote at 8 p.m. on a Republican version of the bill. A vote

James Nolan to challenge Gov. Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Saying he wants to return state tax money to Ohioans, James D. Nolan of Cleveland picked up petitions Monday to seek the 1974 Democratic nomination for governor.

The 51-year-old Cleveland businessman told reporters he has "a good chance to beat Democratic Gov. John Gilligan. I am a moderate and he is an ultra-liberal. I want to give some of that money the state has back to the people."

Nolan referred to revenue generated by Ohio's graduated income tax.

"They have more money than they know what to do with," he said.

Nolan was the Democratic nominee for secretary of state in 1966, one year after he filed a lawsuit that forced reapportionment of the state legislature.

He also sought the party's nomination for lieutenant governor in 1970.

Nolan said he believes he can defeat Gilligan in about 70 of the 88 counties, but "the battle will be in the big counties. I'll have to at least break even in my county. I should be able to at least do that in my home county."

MY IDEA OF HOUSE WORK IS TO SWEEP THE ROOM WITH A GLANCE

had been set in the upper chamber Monday night but was postponed.

Sen. Stanley J. Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, chairman of the Senate Elections Committee, urged lawmakers, meanwhile, "not to bog down in partisan bickering in deciding which of two campaign spending bills should be the vehicle that goes to conference committee."

He suggested he and Rep. Michael Del Bane, D-56 Hubbard, chairman of the corresponding House committee, "flip a coin to see which bill moves out."

Said Aronoff: "There are enough serious differences in substance toward which we should direct our attention rather than wasting time arguing whose names go first in the title of the bill."

House Speaker Pro Tem Vernal G. Riffe, D-89 New Boston, said the Rules Committee relented to Republican demands for more time to map strategy.

Senate Majority Leader Theodore M. Gray, R-3 Columbus, said the Senate delay resulted from the absence of Sen. Donald E. "Buz" Lukens, R-4 Middletown, who was reported en route to Washington on an overnight trip.

Republicans only have a 17-16 edge in the Senate and will need all members present to get the GOP bill to the Democratic (58-41) House.

Senate Minority Leader Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland, served notice of his party's opposition to the GOP bill. "I've got 16 negative votes—locked solid," he said.

Plans call for the two chambers to exchange bills, refuse to concur in the other's measure, and send the entire package to a joint conference committee in an effort to resolve differences.

House Speaker A. G. Lancione, D-99 Bellaire, said he hopes a bipartisan agreement can be reached and the special session ended this week. Gray took the opposite point of view, expressing doubts that the lawmakers will ever agree on a bill.

The dividing line is a partisan dispute over how to handle contributions by labor unions and other politically-oriented organizations.

Under the Republican bill, individual union members would be allowed to earmark donations to the candidates and party of their choice. The Democratic bill would allow union political action committees to make the choices.

While Republicans refer to "union bosses" as the beneficiaries of the Democratic bill, Gilligan claims there are loopholes in the GOP legislation that would allow pro-Republican "fat cats" to make unlimited donations.

Highway 5 fighting continues

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Fighting continued Monday night at two points along Highway 5 as government forces attempted to clear the road to Cambodia's rice bowl, the military command reported today.

Troop slash talks open in Vienna

VIENNA (AP) — The United States and its NATO allies opened talks today with the Soviet Union and other European Communist nations on a mutual, balanced reduction of troops in Central Europe.

Welcoming the delegates, Austrian Foreign Minister Rudolf Kirchschlaeger declared: "The last days and weeks have shown us all how necessary it is to reach this goal."

During the first two days, the heads of each of the 19 delegations will address the conference. Former Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, the head of the U.S. delegation, and Oleg Khlestov, a legal expert from the Soviet Foreign Ministry, are to speak Wednesday.

Western diplomats preparing for the arms talks have been trying to play down their differences relating to Middle East policies. But the Nixon administration made clear last week it was highly displeased at the refusal of West Germany, Britain and some of its other European allies to help the U.S. airlift to Israel.

This so angered Washington that Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger threatened a unilateral review of the 200,000-man U.S. troop commitment to West Germany, instead of waiting for the outcome of the negotiations with the Soviet Bloc.

America's European allies were angered by the failure of the United States to inform them it was sending arms to Israel from American bases on their territory and also by Washington's placing U.S. troops in their countries on alert last week without informing them in advance.

Say Saxbe to succeed Richardson

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Plain Dealer said today it has learned that U.S. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, is being considered prominently for appointment as attorney general to replace Elliott Richardson.

In a copyrighted story, the Plain Dealer quoted "authoritative sources" as saying Saxbe's nomination may be announced today or Wednesday.

Saxbe confirmed that he has discussed the matter with White House aides, the Plain Dealer said, but was quoted as saying he has "not seen the President, and until I do that's where it stands."

White House aides confirmed that Saxbe had attended a White House meeting Saturday.

Saxbe, who has at times been at odds with the President, particularly on foreign policy, announced Oct. 9 that he will not run for the Senate again next year.

The government forces made little headway Monday. The highway, which has not been open to government traffic since Sept. 6, runs from Phnom Penh to Battambang Province, in northwest Cambodia.

Data on Ford to be limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee has agreed to a Justice Department request that it strictly limit access to 1,400 pages of "raw" FBI investigative reports on the fitness of House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford to be vice president.

Declaring they have no intention of stalling or delaying consideration of the nomination, committee members voted unanimously Monday to call Ford as the first witness at confirmation hearings beginning Thursday morning.

The Senate Democratic leadership, meanwhile, advocated "all due deliberateness" on the nomination.

Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said that Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork last Wednesday withdrew by letter a previous Justice Department promise to provide nine committee members with summaries of the FBI's investigation into Ford's background.

With Cannon abstaining, the committee voted unanimously Monday to accept Bork's new offer to provide only the "raw," meaning unevaluated, investigative file.

Access to that file is limited to Cannon and to the committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky. They have been examining the file since Wednesday and are to prepare their own summary for committee members.

Cannon said an FBI man is in the room with him at all times when he is inspecting the reports. He said the agent is thoroughly familiar with the raw data and can answer questions on

All of the material is returned to the Justice Department each day when he and Cook have completed their examination of it, Cannon said.

Cannon said the original promise to provide summaries to all members came from an assistant attorney general whose name he said he could not recall.

The chairman said he preferred the earlier arrangement. "I don't relish myself being put in the position of making the decision of what is and what is not important," he said.

Cannon said he already has gone through about 900 pages of the material and has requested additional information from the FBI.

Raw FBI reports often include unproved and unsubstantiated allegations and innuendo.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archibald Cox says he has no evidence he was fired as Watergate special prosecutor, because the administration feared his investigation was getting too close to the White House.

But he said White House staff members complained several times about the course of the investigation, and the complaints were relayed to him by then-Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson.

"The attorney general never put pressure on me," Cox told the Senate Judiciary Committee Monday. "In fact, he was caught in the middle . . . We tried to reason some of these things out together."

Cox said he has evidence the political

Claim peace in Mideast needed first

Suspend Soviet trade measure, Nixon asks

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an eye on big-power politics in the Middle East, the Nixon administration has asked Congress to suspend efforts to liberalize trade with the Soviet Union or tie commercial transactions to Russian emigration policies.

Peter Flanigan, Nixon's chief adviser on foreign economic policy, told a Senate banking subcommittee hearing Monday the position would be changed if a satisfactory Mideast peace settlement is achieved.

"We think it is inappropriate at this time to deal with these issues," Flanigan testified. "It is clear that a settlement in the Middle East depends on cooperation with Russia."

The House Ways and Means Committee has approved an administration-backed foreign trade bill that would grant most-favored-nation status to the Soviets, thereby placing Russian goods under the lowest import duty that is available to United States trading partners.

The House committee, however, added an amendment by Sen. Henry M.

Jackson, D-Wash., that would condition the trade liberalization on the Soviet Union's adoption of a free emigration policy for Jews and others wishing to leave.

Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., told Flanigan an effort might be made to attach the Jackson amendment to legislation increasing the lending authority of the Export-Import Bank.

Flanigan said his request for a temporary halt applied to both the trade and bank bills.

In Los Angeles, Occidental Petroleum Corp., a prime mover in expanding commerce with the Soviet Union, said a delay in the trade bill would have no effect on its multi billion dollar deal involving chemical fertilizer and development of a world trade center in Moscow.

"Neither of these require most-favored-nation sanctions," Occidental board chairman Armand Hammer said. He added that he thought "President Nixon clearly had no choice but to withdraw the trade bill at this time."

SUPPLIES FOR TRAPPED EGYPTIANS — An armed Israeli jeep leads a column of vehicles carrying relief supplies to the trapped Egyptian Third Army near the Suez Canal.

Israel pushes for POW listings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel pressed Egypt and Syria for prisoner-of-war lists and a prisoner exchange Monday as the Israeli government came under fire at home for letting supplies get through to the stranded Egyptian 3rd Army.

Premier Golda Meir held up plans to return 2,000 wounded Arab POWs until the Arabs come up with a list of Israelis they captured in the war.

Maj. Gen. Shmuel Eyal said the Israeli government believes Egypt is holding about 350 Israelis and Syria about 100. He says Israel is willing to trade the 7,000 Arabs it captured for them.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Egypt informed U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim it will give the prisoner list to the International Red Cross, but there was no immediate comment from Israel.

Al Ahram said Egypt made the promise while stressing to Waldheim "the necessity of Israeli troops withdrawing" to their positions when the first U.N. cease-fire went into effect Oct. 22.

An Israeli military delegation led by Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv met Monday for the third time with Egyptian officers at the cease-fire line on the west bank of the canal, and an Israeli spokesman said they discussed the prisoner situation. More such meetings were expected, the Israeli command said.

Many Israelis criticized their government for permitting relief supplies to reach the encircled Egyptian troops along the southeast side of the Suez Canal.

Some said the plight of the stranded troops should have been used as a bargaining point to get the POW exchange arranged.

U.N. drivers Monday took 100 truckloads of food, water and medicine through Israeli lines six miles north of Suez on the west bank of the canal, and Egyptian amphibious vehicles began taking the supplies across the waterway.

A U.N. officer said the total shipment will last the estimated 20,000 Egyptian troops about a week, but there was no word of moves toward arranging another supply operation.

The Jerusalem Post said all 120 persons who responded to its opinion sampling believed that the prisoner lists should have come before the supplies were let through.

Maj. Gen. Avraham Adan, the commander of Israel's armored corps, watched the supplies being ferried across the canal and commented: "They are our enemy. They started the war. I never heard of giving food to the enemy — and they haven't even shown the elementary humanity of giving us the names of our prisoners of war."

Some Israeli soldiers made their criticism directly to Mrs. Meir when she visited the army on both banks of the canal Monday.

A spokesman said she told one soldier: "Nobody ever doubted you could lick old 3rd Army, but there are political considerations." She added that the United States had told her it and the Soviet Union would press the Arabs for a POW exchange.

Kissinger, Fahmy discuss Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and special Egyptian envoy Ismail Fahmy scheduled their second meeting in less than 18 hours today to discuss cementing the Middle East cease-fire and the opening of Arab-Israeli talks.

The two were supposed to have held their first session today, but Fahmy requested an earlier audience as he got off his plane Monday afternoon.

Kissinger agreed and the two met for 90 minutes Monday evening at the State Department to discuss a message sent by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

The two officials then agreed to meet today as originally planned.

Both Egyptian and U.S. officials were close-mouthed about the details of the meetings, although Fahmy and Kissinger did make some guarded statements Monday night.

"Very satisfactory," said Fahmy of the first meeting, "I am very pleased the secretary was able to see me." In answer to a question, the Egyptian added that the discussion was promising.

Kissinger was asked if he agreed. "Yes," he answered, adding that the talks covered "the whole complex — the cease-fire and after."

Other officials of both governments said Fahmy outlined Egypt's traditional demands of Israeli withdrawal from conquered territory as a condition for negotiations.

However, they indicated the most important goal of his mission was to learn firsthand the U.S. thinking on the Middle East and examine the seriousness of the American pledges to treat the Arabs fairly in helping arrange peace talks.

While Kissinger pursued his goal of gaining Arab respect, other administration officials gave evidence of a second prong to U.S. policy regarding the Middle East.

This involved reminders to Moscow that the United States expects the Soviet Union to act responsibly in solving the Middle East conflict.

Cox links firing to efforts made for papers

files of some White House personnel may have been dumped into President Nixon's own files to protect them from subpoena. Nixon contends his files are immune to subpoena.

Cox was scheduled for more testimony today before the committee, which is holding hearings on his dismissal. He was fired Oct. 20 on Nixon's orders because he refused a presidential directive to halt efforts to obtain White House documents relevant to the Watergate probe.

Asked to summarize the reasons for his firing, the former Harvard law professor replied:

"The single most important factor by which I understood I was being asked to forego further efforts to use judicial process to obtain necessary evidence from White House files . . . evidence I thought essential to pursue an adequate inquiry."

"You thought that request breached your independence and authority?" asked Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark.

"I did, senator," Cox replied.

McClellan asked about rumors that Cox was dismissed because his probe was pointing toward the White House.

"I have no evidence to support any of the rumors of this kind," Cox said. "I have seen evidence that some on the President's staff were troubled by the breadth of the guidelines of the investigation."

Cox's firing resulted in the resignations of Richardson and Deputy

Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus. Both are expected to testify later this week.

The Judiciary Committee has custody of a bill, backed by a majority of the Senate, that would direct the federal courts to name an independent prosecutor to succeed Cox.

Cox told the committee he is convinced the measure provides the wisest method of creating a special prosecutor who would be totally independent of the executive branch.

He added that his successor should be given clear authority to file suit seeking White House evidence.

Mrs. Meir to confer with Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir is coming to the United States to confer with President Nixon on Thursday about the Middle East crisis, the White House announced today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also said Nixon would meet on Wednesday with Egypt's acting Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, who began exploratory talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday on ways to settle the Middle East conflict.

As part of what he called Nixon's "efforts to bring lasting peace to the Middle East," Warren said the President also would meet at 6 p.m. today at his Camp David, Md., retreat with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who has been a go-between in the U.S.-Soviet diplomatic moves spawned by the latest outbreak of fighting in the troubled region.

Warren said Mrs. Meir's hastily arranged visit was by "mutual agreement." He said the precise time for the session, which presumably will be held at the White House, had not been set, but was expected to take place at about noon on Thursday.

Majority nixes Nixon impeachment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A telephone survey conducted by the Atlanta Constitution showed that 59.6 per cent of 267 persons interviewed at random do not want to see President Nixon impeached, the newspaper said in today's editions.

The paper said 26.4 per cent of the 267 favored impeachment.

At the same time, the paper said, 54.5 per cent of those interviewed said they felt the news media has been fair to Nixon, and 31.8 per cent believed the media has been unfair. Nearly 14 per cent had no opinion.

READY AND WAITING — The Ohio Highway Garage, CCC Highway-W, is officially ready for the first snow. State inspection teams visited the headquarters Tuesday morning to check the preparedness of the highway equipment, and Gene Fitzpatrick, local superintendent, was complimented on the condition of the trucks. The vehicles are inspected twice yearly, once in the fall and again in the spring.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From
WILLIAM H. HARSHA
Representative To Congress
6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — In the wake of the Watergate scandal, numerous bills have been introduced in Congress to close the loopholes in the campaign contribution laws.

One area to which this legislation has not addressed itself until now, however, is the reprehensible use of political espionage in campaigns.

While such things as spying and political pranks are not necessarily anything new to politics or associated only with Watergate — they've been used on me for years — the extent and the sophisticated level to which political espionage is allegedly being employed today is.

The practice of spying or using spies to gather information on or to disrupt the plans and activities of other political candidates or committees can no longer be shrugged off as an inevitable part of the campaign process and tolerated as only a minor transgression.

It must be recognized as the serious threat to fair and open elections that it is and dealt with specifically in the federal campaign election laws.

IT IS for this reason that I am co-sponsoring the "Election Campaign Espionage Act", the purpose of which is three-fold:

First, It would prohibit any employee or volunteer working on behalf of one candidate or political committee to provide any service to another candidate or committee with the intent of interfering with any election or campaign activity of such other candidate or political committee.

Second, It would prohibit the use of contributions or any campaign funds for such espionage purposes, or to aid in the commission of any other offense already prohibited by state or federal law such as wiretapping, electronic surveillance, burglary, breaking and entering and so forth.

Watergate scandal

Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork to name a new prosecutor, but has said the new man would not have access to presidential records.

The Justice Department said Bork is trying to nail down details of Nixon's guidelines but "Mr. Bork wants to be sure the special prosecutor is not precluded from seeking evidence he is legally entitled to."

At the White House, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said there will be no further public discussion on questions of the role and independence of a special prosecutor until Bork announces his selection.

Elsewhere today, the Senate Watergate committee scheduled an executive session to prepare for Wednesday's resumption of its public hearings.

The House Judiciary Committee planned to consider a bill extending the life of the original Watergate grand jury by six months, and giving U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica authority to extend it another six months.

Without legislation, the jury's term would expire Dec. 4.

Meanwhile, White House lawyers were called before Sirica today to outline procedures under which nine tape recordings relevant to Watergate will be surrendered to the judge.

Nixon agreed to comply with Sirica's order to hand over the tapes after it was upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The staff that served under Cox before his firing is intact and functioning, Henry S. Ruth, deputy special prosecutor, told a House Judiciary subcommittee. Ruth said there have been no resignations and nobody has been fired.

Cox told the Senate Judiciary Committee that, on balance, his efforts to obtain White House documents were unsuccessful. He said no Watergate prosecutor could get at the truth without access to such documents.

Third, It establishes as a felony any attempt on the part of an employee or volunteer working in a political campaign to internationally or deliberately conceal any known or suspected violation of this act or any provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 and the reporting thereof.

THE LEGISLATION then addresses itself to the fundamental technique of political spying — that of planting people representing one candidate or committee into the headquarters or campaign of an opponent for the express purpose of obtaining information and/or interfering with the election.

The second section of the bill concerns a lesson learned from Watergate. Thousands of dollars of campaign funds were spent to purchase equipment for illegal purposes. However, while the acts themselves of breaking and entering, burglary and "bugging" were unlawful, purchasing the equipment was not, provided it was reported in accordance with existing campaign financing laws.

Under the Election Campaign Espionage Act, even the purchase of such equipment with campaign funds would be illegal.

THE THIRD section of the legislation makes it a felony to conceal or cover up known or suspected violations of this act. Penalties for violations of this act would include a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than 10 years.

With the next federal elections only a year away, I believe it is extremely important that this legislation be enacted as quickly as possible. The astonishing and shocking campaign abuses as the result of a misguided few which have come to light in the past months have seriously eroded the public confidence in the political process.

That confidence and trust is a most crucial part of our democratic system of government in the United States, and legislation such as this would go a long way toward protecting the integrity of the electoral process and helping to restore the faith of the American people in it.

Arnoff eyes state office next year

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP)— State Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, wants to stifle—at least for now—reports he'll be a candidate for lieutenant governor next year.

Truth, is he said, he doesn't know which office he wants to try for, the lieutenant governorship or attorney general. But he said he's "leaning toward" lieutenant governor.

The remarks came Monday in response to newsmen's questions.

Whatever his decision, the 40-year-old lawmaker said he won't make an official announcement until after the current special session of the General Assembly.

Aronoff is chairman of the Senate Elections Committee which is figuring prominently in the session called to legislate campaign financing reforms.

Aronoff faces competition from at least two other Republicans and four Democrats if he files for the $30,000-a-year lieutenant governor's job. The salary is being boosted from the present $17,000.

So far, Republicans vying for the GOP nomination are state Sen. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, and former Republican state Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus.

The Democrats are Henry W. Eckhart, former chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio; state Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland; William O'Neill of Columbus and William Sweeney of Cincinnati.

Energy crisis to dim Yule across nation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The energy crisis may dim some of the sparkle for this year's Christmas, a spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said Monday.

John Ledingham said large outdoor Christmas displays that rely on lighting may have to be darkened to conserve electricity.

He said electric utility companies should act voluntarily to reduce the power supplies to the displays that usually adorn public buildings and city thoroughfares during November and December.

Ledingham threatened the utilities with a formal order if they do not act on their own.

The commission, he said, wants the companies to pressure cities and businesses to forego the elaborate holiday displays in the interest of saving energy.

He said the commission recently mailed a letter to company presidents asking them to "re-think the wisdom of large displays and to make suggestions for conserving electricity."

The jurisdiction of the commission in the matter is fuzzy, Ledingham admitted. But he added that the utilities could be ordered to give private homes priority over commercial or municipal displays.

However, Francis A. Coy, board chairman of The May Co. in Cleveland, and chairman of the city's downtown lighting display committee, said there are no plans to reduce or cancel this year's plans.

"We feel that this is part of the development of excitement in a downtown area and that the amount of power used is limited in relation to the total commercial use of a community," Coy said.

In Columbus, the mayor's office said the city's outdoor Christmas trimmings will remain in storage through the holidays. The city council has passed a resolution curtailing Christmas lighting.

Burt Silverman, executive vice president of the Downtown Toledo Association, said the group has delayed opening the city's displays by one week in the interest of conservation.

Silverman said the displays, mostly lighted Christmas trees on utility poles, will begin Nov. 24, instead of Nov. 17.

Rainfall diminished across Ohio early today, although skies remained overcast.

Cool, cloudy weather was forecast to continue over the state today, with scattered light rain or drizzle. Afternoon temperatures in the upper 40s and low 50s were predicted.

The low pressure area, which has been controlling Ohio's weather is forecast to move north from Pennsylvania to Canada by tonight and Wednesday, ending rain in the Buckeye State.

Temperatures tonight will drop to the upper 30s and low 40s, then rise Wednesday afternoon to the mid to upper 50s under cloudy to partly-cloudy skies.

Rainfall amounts were variable overnight and Monday, with Columbus reporting nearly an inch during a 24-hour period ending early today.

Neighboring West Virginia reported light snow in mountain areas overnight, with temperatures hovering around freezing.

A warming trend is expected in Ohio Thursday and Friday, followed by cooler temperatures Saturday. Highs Thursday and Saturday will be in the 60s, with temperatures reaching the 70s Friday. Lows all three days will be in the 40s and low 50s. Thursday and Friday will be fair, with a chance of showers Saturday.

Rain, drizzle and some snow touched much of the eastern third of the nation today, and howling winds blew snow through the Rockies.

Rains lingered from the eastern Great Lakes region into New England, and light rain and drizzle sprinkled the Ohio Valley and eastern Tennessee. Snow whitened the Virginia and West Virginia mountains.

Winds as high as 45 miles per hour struck the New England coast. Gale warnings were posted along the coast and for Lake Huron, and storm warnings were issued for parts of the lower Great Lakes region.

Rainfall in Connecticut, New York State and New Jersey was generally less than 1½ inches. However, New York City received almost two inches of rain Monday, ending 26-day dry spell.

Winds gusting to 48 miles per hour scattered rain and snow in the central Rockies.

Dampness spread into the Pacific Northwest with Quillayute, Wash., measuring more than half an inch of rain Monday night.

Four inches of snow piled up at Lander, Wyo., Monday; and a heavy-snow warning was issued for the northern and central mountains of Colorado for today.

A freeze warning was out in northern Georgia after a surprise snow struck early Monday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 22 at Evanston, Wyo., to 79 at Point Mugu, Calif.

Stock list heads lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices headed lower today and brokers said investors were expressing some uneasiness about the strength of the economy.

The opening Dow Jones industrial average was down almost a point and eclines outnumbered advances by almost 8 to 5 in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said one depressant on the market was the government report that leading economic indicators declined in September for the first time in five months. They said some investors expressed concern that the hoped for economic slowdown could be more severe than earlier expected.

Active issues on the Big Board included Texaco, down ¼ to 33; Levitz Furniture, down ½ to 6; Skyline Corp., up ½ to 16½; Merck, up ¼ to 90½; and Avon Products, off ¾ to 91½.

On Monday, the Dow lost 2.26 points to close at 984.80 and declines held almost a 4 to 3 lead over advances on the NYSE. Some brokers termed the market's behavior a continued consolidation in the wake of its strong advance earlier this fall.

Urge probe of Albert

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., should undergo the same type of close scrutiny as Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford, Oklahoma's Republican state chairman says.

Clarence Warner told newsmen Monday that Albert should face a "thorough congressional investigation" since he is in direct line to become president.

Warner said he did not intend to cast aspersions on Albert and that his proposal was not voiced as a "purely partisan political move."

"With events changing from day to day, and with Carl Albert in direct line to succeed to the presidency, should anything occur, I feel it would be best for the country to have such an investigation," Warner said.

"I'm sure Speaker Albert would like to be given a clean bill of health in the event some tragedy would occur and elevate him to the presidency, and I suggest that both ... Albert and ... Ford be given the same type of close scrutiny."

Baker praises work by media

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The senior Republican on the Senate Watergate committee says the news media has done "an extraordinarily good job" in covering the Watergate story.

Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee said the press had become what he termed an organ of government and as such had a great responsibility to serve the best interests of the nation.

Baker also told a college audience Monday night that a new Watergate special prosecutor with "extraordinary independence" should be appointed swiftly.

Former price panel chief hopes for end to controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wage-price controls should be dropped, but not until the economy slows down a little and food prices stabilize, says the former head of the defunct Price Commission.

C. Jackson Grayson Jr., who headed the commission during its 14-month existence until it was disbanded in January, said now is not the time for the Nixon administration to junk controls.

"They can't afford to take them off right now," Grayson said in a telephone interview. "There would be such an explosion in prices that there would be a great demand for more stringent controls."

He said the public resistance would be so great that Congress might even legislate a price freeze, a policy tool he opposes to deal with the present price surge.

Grayson said he saw no chance that controls could be dropped this year but added, "hopefully, early next year, it will be possible. By then, I hope the food-price rises will have abated and the economy will have slowed down to give a little breathing room."

A slower economy usually means there is less pressure for price increases.

Grayson, who has returned to his economics post at Southern Methodist University, said he favored allowing the legal authority for wage-price

Dean pressure on FBI, CIA seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report concludes that former White House counsel John W. Dean III put "tremendous pressure" on the FBI as well as the CIA to limit the first Watergate investigation.

The House intelligence subcommittee report, released today, said Dean urged then-acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray with some 25 calls in two weeks to hold off investigating evidence that campaign contributions for President Nixon were involved in the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

The report quoted Gray as saying Dean's final calls in the effort shortly after the June 17, 1972, break-in were, in the report's words, "made in such a way as to constitute harassment."

It quoted deputy CIA Director Vernon A. Walters as saying Dean told him "the problem was how to stop the FBI investigation beyond the five suspects" caught red-handed in the break-in.

The subcommittee's report on its four-month, closed-door probe of CIA involvement in the Watergate scandal also said:

—When Dean and former top White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman urged that the FBI not investigate the so-called Mexican connection involving Nixon campaign contributions because of possible exposure of secret CIA activities, they were "invoking nonexistent conflicts with CIA operations."

—The CIA and its top officials were nothing more than "unwitting dupes" in supplying disguises used in the Watergate break-in, the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office and other domestic activities.

—Testimony of Gray and Ehrlichman conflict with President Nixon's May 22 statement on how Gray's famous warning to the President that aides were "trying to mortally wound you" came about.

Gray testified that Nixon called back 30 minutes after the acting FBI director gave that warning to a Nixon aide and Gray repeated it to the President, the report said. It quoted Nixon's May 22 statement in which he said he had called Gray on another matter when Gray brought up his concern that, as the President put it, the Watergate investigation would go higher.

Gray told the Senate Watergate Committee the FBI already had learned by then that $89,000 in campaign contributions had gone through a Mexican bank and wound up in the Miami bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of the five men caught in the Watergate break-in.

Prayer breakfast series continues

The 124 students and teachers at the weekly prayer breakfast Tuesday in the South Side Church of Christ were reminded by the pastor, the Rev. Charles J. Richmond, that "in the early days of the church, you could tell the followers of Jesus by the way they loved one another." The subject of his message during the meditation period was "The Badge of Discipleship."

Group singing was led by WJHS assist. football coach Dick Roth. Linda Hollingsworth, a WSHS sophomore, was the accompanist.

After breakfast, Kevin Blair, a WSHS junior, spoke on "Sacrificing." He pointed out that the motto of the Blue Lion football team this year is "Sacrifice," but that the supreme sacrifice was Christ's death on the cross.

Blazing freight derailment battled near Arizona village

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — Flames engulfed most of a Santa Fe freight train early today when 19 rail cars jumped the tracks near the village of Hackberry near here, officials said.

Six firemen were hospitalized and may have inhaled toxic fumes but were not burned, a Fire Department spokesman said. He described the fire as "contained but not controlled."

"We don't know what started it. Santa Fe says there weren't any tank cars on the train," said fireman H. B.

Marshall. "But something spilled down the tracks and caught all those cars on fire."

He said firemen, hampered by a shortage of water, were trying to work from both ends of the blaze toward the middle.

"We just can't get any water way out there," he said. "We have an 8,200-gallon water tanker, five trucks and a rescue unit there, but we're really short of water."

Authorities said the westbound train, enroute from Chicago to San Francisco, derailed on a bridge a few hundred yards from Hackberry, a village of a few hundred persons along U.S. 66 about 100 miles southwest of the Grand Canyon. Hackberry is 15 miles east of here.

"It was just a big, splashy fire and fortunately no one was injured," said Bill Murie of the Arizona Department of Public Safety. "We don't know what started it yet, but it was a gasoline fire. We don't know if it came from a tanker, box car, cans or what."

In Winslow, Santa Fe's main Arizona headquarters 175 miles east of Kingman, a spokesman confirmed that 19 cars had derailed and said, "to the best of my knowledge no tank cars were on that train."

He also said Santa Fe crews managed to salvage the four rear cars by separating them from the flaming wreckage. He said the two main east-west rail lines were closed indefinitely.

On July 5, 12 persons were killed and more than 80 others were injured in Kingman when a flaming propane rail car blew apart as firemen battled the blaze. Several victims were firemen.

Welfare Finance Corp. to appeal suspension

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Welfare Finance Corp. will appeal an order from the Ohio Commerce Department Division of Securities stopping the firm from selling stock.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Robert Black Monday dissolved the order and set a hearing for Thursday morning.

The state accused the firm of improperly offering securities for sale without amending their state application.

Say Nixon halted ITT appeal plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst reportedly told Watergate prosecutors that President Nixon ordered him to halt an appeal of the government's antitrust cases against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., the New York Times said today.

Quoting sources, the Times said Kleindienst had told the Watergate prosecutors that Nixon called him after Kleindienst had turned down a request in 1971 from John D. Ehrlichman, then a White House adviser, to drop the appeal.

The appeal was held up and the government agreed to an out-of-court settlement that allowed ITT to retain the $1-billion Hartford Insurance Co. while giving up Canteen Corp. and other holdings.

Published reports have linked the out-of-court settlement to ITT's pledge to contribute as much as $200,000 to the 1972 GOP convention. The reports were denied by ITT and the Justice Department.

The White House called the Times story "distorted and unfair" and accused the staff of fired Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox of "an inexcusable breach of confidence."

"This information comes from a highly confidential conversation between Archibald Cox and former Atty. Gen. Kleindienst and from documents furnished voluntarily and also furnished in absolute confidence by the White House to Mr. Cox," the White House said. "The information furnished by the White House and Mr. Kleindienst put the matter into fair and accurate perspective."

The Times quoted sources close to the case as saying that after Kleindienst's conversation with Ehrlichman, Nixon called Kleindienst and, after calling him a "vulgar name," said, "Don't you understand the English language?" and ordered the appeal stopped.

"The President's direction to Mr. Kleindienst was based on his belief that the Canteen case represented a policy of the Justice Department with which he strongly disagreed, namely that bigness per se was unlawful," the White House statement said.

"When the specific facts of the appeal were subsequently explained in greater detail, the President withdrew his objection and the appeal was prosecuted in exactly the form originally proposed."

Arraign war hero on dope charge

PETALUMA, Calif. (AP) — A Vietnam war hero who won the nation's highest medal has been arraigned on four counts of selling cocaine.

Richard A. Penry, 24, described by authorities as a major cocaine dealer, appeared Monday before Municipal Court Judge Alexander McMahon who scheduled another hearing Nov. 5 for Penry and co-defendant David B. Lane.

Penry, a former Army sergeant, was awarded the Medal of Honor on July 15, 1971, for "conspicuous gallantry" in saving the life of his wounded company commander and almost single-handedly stopping an enemy attack in Binh Tuy Province.

Collector's item

The American taste for gimmicky artifacts, the zanier the better, is well known. The average citizen's affluence makes it possible for him to indulge this taste to such an extent that manufacturers of items which hit the public fancy can cash in handsomely.

These meditations on a social phenomenon are prompted by the latest word about the Spiro Agnew watch. The Dirty Time Co. in Anaheim, Calif., launched this timepiece, featuring a caricature of the then vice president on its face, in 1970. People who liked Agnew bought it; people who didn't like Agnew bought it. The thing sold like - well, like hotcakes - and was widely imitated.

After the first surge of enthusiastic buying, sales of the watch began to languish; in the last couple of years they were down to a trickle. The Agnew resignation was a shot in the arm. Dr. Hale Dougherty, a physician who founded Dirty Time, reports a renaissance. It seems that now the Spiro watch has become a collector's item of sorts.

As the fellow said, people are funnier than anybody.

WASHINGTON CALLING . . . by Marquis Childs

Kissinger in whirlwind

WASHINGTON — As mysterious as the wildest whodunit ever written are the contradictory events of the past week. They have been as baffling in some respects for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as for the average citizen sitting on the sidelines and wondering what in thunder is going on.

At his press conference Kissinger did not disclose the reaction he and his associates had in Moscow where they went at the invitation of Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev. They were impressed by the great value that Brezhnev and the men around him put on detente with the United States. In the six hours of discussion it was the centerpiece of Kremlin decision-making.

In rapid order agreement was reached on a joint U.S.-U.S.S.R. cease-fire resolution to be put before the United Nations Security Council. Nothing was said about any Soviet-American force to police the cease-fire. The understanding was that the policing would be done by a U.N. observer force.

THIS WAS the word Kissinger took to Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir when he flew from Moscow to Tel Aviv. It was a most-welcome word in light of Israel's heavy casualties and severe losses of planes and armor.

Then without any warning the roof fell in. It was the lot of Kissinger's friend and collaborator, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, to bring him a note stating the Kremlin's intention to send in Soviet forces unilaterally even though the United States declined to participate. The Kremlin knew very well Washington would have none of a joint force in the explosive Middle East.

The specter that arose immediately was of a split in the Soviet hierarchy between a Brezhnev-detente faction and the hard-line militarists. Not even the Kremlinologists who seize on every straw out of Moscow can say with complete assurance that this is the fact. But even after the capitulation by Jacob Malik in the Security Council the mystery remains.

WHETHER President Nixon overreacted in calling the 3 a.m. alert is also a mystery. The alert of the Strategic Air Command, the calling up of National Guard units, the clatter of guns and tanks across the world as American units in West Germany were ordered moved to the East German border came as the Nixon credibility gap had become an abyss rivaling the Grand Canyon.

The switch on the White House tapes, the firing of Archibald Cox, the resignation of the top men at Justice — all this had stirred an upsurge of opinion from around the country such as had rarely been seen even in the crunch of the Vietnam war and the attack on Cambodia.

Was the alert merely a diversionary tactic to draw attention away from the President's domestic trials? This was the abrasive question put to Kissinger at his press conference. He replied in the course of an impressive performance that there must be some degree of trust in the officials who are trying to conduct foreign policy.

In the bar rooms of the Old West, legend has it, was a sign that read: "Don't shoot the piano player, he's doing the best he can." That should be transposed and hung up in the Secretary of State's office.

NO SOONER was the sensational news of the alert spread across the headlines than Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson came out shooting with both guns. Professing to know exactly what was in the note delivered by Dobrynin, he took aim at Kissinger and if he missed at least he raised the political dust on either side of the beleaguered secretary.

Thomas Gleason, head of the International Maritime Union, said he would order his men to cease loading and unloading shipments to and from the Soviet Union if within a deadline he fixed the flow of war material from the Soviet Union to the Arab combatants did not cease.

The House of Representatives put on the shelf a trade bill that was certain to carry an amendment denying tariff concessions and export-import credits to the Soviet Union.

All were busy little helpers making Kissinger's task in seeking to avoid a confrontation with the Soviets even more difficult than it was bound to be in any event.

In an interview he gave to an Italian woman journalist, which he later regretted, Kissinger described himself as riding alone into a Western town to face friend or foe. He is a lonely rider and an intrepid rider.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 31

ARIES

(March 21 to April 20)

Plenty of competition about, but don't let it dismay you. Anchor your sails to the well-founded and engage opponents with enthusiasm.

TAURUS

(April 21 to May 21)

If you really have time for "extras" on a busy day, take them on judiciously. Don't overtax energies and don't hesitate to ask for help if you find yourself in a bind.

GEMINI

(May 22 to June 21)

Stellar aspects now warn against misleading influences, deceit and dubious schemes. Be alert and counteract with your innate integrity and good judgment.

CANCER

(June 22 to July 23)

Your ingenuity, foresight and intuition should be at a peak now. A good time to look into new offerings and gauge their real value.

LEO

(July 24 to Aug. 23)

Wait on decisions until all avenues have been explored. Should temporary deterrents appear, handle discerningly, with clear-headedness, smart control.

VIRGO

(Aug. 24 to Sept. 23)

Do not become disenchanted with those who disapprove of your ideas or who are unwilling to fall in with your plans. Be philosophical, tolerant.

LIBRA

(Sept. 24 to Oct. 23)

Take care in counselling others, imparting information. Avoid arguments as such, but discuss calmly important trends, transactions.

SCORPIO

(Oct. 24 to Nov. 22)

Discretion should be your watchword. Keep disposition even in order to cope with the ruffled ones you meet — and there may be several.

SAGITTARIUS

(Nov. 23 to Dec. 21)

A period for some introspection.

Through reflection, you will get a clearer view of the road ahead, to make plans for further accomplishment and satisfaction.

CAPRICORN

(Dec. 22 to Jan. 20)

Direct your innate enthusiasm into progressive channels. You can accomplish more than many others now. Especially favored: written matters and travel plans.

AQUARIUS

(Jan. 21 to Feb. 19)

Going it alone will not be the answer. There are definite areas where you will have to associate with, plan with, others. Teamwork!

PISCES

(Feb. 20 to March 20)

Some plans may have to be changed whether you like it or not. Be composed, however, for you may well profit by the change. Keep your sense of humor sharp.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with tremendous ambition, indomitable courage in the face of obstacles and an outstanding gift of leadership. You would make a great success in public life but, being extremely versatile, there are many other vocations open to you, notably in the fields of literature, medicine, the law or, in the arts, as architect, sculptor or actor. Traits to curb: overaggressiveness, obstinacy and hyperactivity.

Fayette County is one of the leading agricultural counties in the state, yet, did you ever stop to consider how we rank in educational opportunities with other counties in the state of comparable size, population and per capita income?

If only 50 per cent of the concern, energy, enthusiasm, and funds used for farming in this county were put forth for education, there would be advances made in leaps and bounds never before seen in this county.

Granted, without farming we would definitely be in trouble. But, without the adequate educational facilities to prepare the children of Fayette County for life in this rapidly changing, fast-paced world, the future is in deeper, more serious trouble.

Children are the most important natural resource we have. So vote yes — and give the youth of Fayette County the opportunity they deserve and need.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Door swings both ways for parents, their kids

DEAR ABBY: You recently published the following:

DEAR ABBY: Our brother is 21. He just graduated from college, and has a job that pays him $100 a week. Brother wants to live at home with our parents. They think it will teach Brother a sense of responsibility if he pays them $75 a month for his room and board.

Since Brother is the oldest of six children, what goes for him will probably go for the rest of us.

We don't think children should have to pay to live with someone they love. Our whole family would like to know how you feel about this.

THE OTHER KIDS

DEAR KIDS: How long should an able-bodied, gainfully employed 21-year-old expect to live with Mama and Papa for free? Six months? A year? Forever? Circumstances and opinions differ in all families, however, reasonable people should be able to agree to terms that will satisfy both the lover and the loves.

Abby, let's put it this way:

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of a 21-year-old son who just graduated from college. Now that he has a nice apartment and is making a good salary, we would like to sell our house and move in with him.

He thinks we should pay $75 a month for room and board. We don't think parents should have to pay to live with someone they love. What do you think, Abby? Sign this . . .

"THE PARENTS"

DEAR PARENTS: That door swings both ways. Parents who are able to support themselves shouldn't free-load on their kids.

DEAR ABBY: Who wouldn't live at home for $75 a month if Mom and Dad are dummies enough to offer it? The kid (correction-at, 21, he's a man, is getting a real bargain.

The real question is: "Do Mom and Dad love him enough to push him out of the nest now that he is self-supporting?" And does he love them enough to take care of himself and ease their burden with the other five? Whether they can afford it or not, they are doing him a disservice to let him stay.

The other kids should know that loving isn't necessarily giving. It is strong stuff when you love enough to say, "GO!"

PUZZLED IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about that girl who found out when she was 16 that her parents had been married six months before she was born. She said they were the greatest, and she didn't hold anything against them.

I am 14, and I want that girl to know that I was born four days AFTER my parents were married, and I've known about it for three years because my mother told me, and I respect her even more for being honest.

You should never look down on a person because she made a mistake. A friend of mine was born illegitimate and she knew it, but she never held it against her mother until her mother denied it.

Lying is stupid. The truth always has a way of coming out.

GRATEFUL

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Tuesday, Oct. 30, the 303rd day of 1973. There are 52 days left in the year.

Russian wheat poses problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1973 world wheat crop apparently will be much larger than was expected two months ago because of a big gain in Russian harvest prospects, the Agriculture Department says.

Although a larger wheat supply is good news to needy countries that depend on food grain imports, the situation is causing concern to U.S. growers who have been anticipating high prices over the next six or eight months.

The department said Monday in a special report that the Soviet Union has produced a record crop of 100 million metric tons this year, about 3.7 billion bushels.

Officials said further that the estimate soon may be revised again to around 110 million tons. If so, that will mean extra grain in the world market.

If the 110 million tons proves to be an accurate estimate, the big Soviet crop will assure the world of a slight surplus — without dipping into diminishing reserves — until next summer when another harvest is ready.

The Foreign Agricultural Service said the 1973-74 use of wheat is expected to be about 360 million tons. The total world output this season is estimated at about 355 million. But if the Russian crop is revised upward 10 million tons, the world production will exceed demand by about five million tons.

American farmers produced a record crop this year of 47 million metric tons or 1.73 billion bushels — less than half of the Russian crop.

Nearly three-fourths of U.S. wheat production, however, is available for export, while the Soviets are thought to need nearly all their harvest to rebuild some supplies.

But according to trade sources, the Soviet wheat crop is raising concern that Russia, after being a record importer in 1972-73, may be in a position to begin selling some wheat next year on the world market.

Democrats support farmland amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to tax farmland on its use, not its potential, has won official support from Ohio Democrats.

State chairman William A. Lavelle said Monday issue No. 1 on the November 6 ballot received endorsement from the state Democratic organization following a poll of county chairmen, Democratic legislators and members of the state executive committee.

POSES PROBLEM — Eighteen-year-old Ypsilanti, Mich., high school graduate Alice Payne wants to be a parachutist in the United States Army, although she has never flown in an airplane. The paratrooper school at Ft. Benning, Ga., is busy figuring out changes it has to make to train Miss Payne or any other women aspirants.

Liberals win big in Quebec vote

MONTREAL (AP) — Quebec province's Liberal government won a landslide election victory Monday that Premier Robert Bourassa said constituted a clear rebuff to the French Canadian separatist movement.

"A great triumph for federalism over separatism," said Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, the Liberal party's national leader and a native of Quebec.

When counting stopped for the night, the Liberals had won 99 of the 110 seats in the provincial assembly and were leading in two others.

The separatist Parti Quebecois had won six, a loss of one; the Social Creditists had two and had lost 10, and the once powerful Union Nationale, the official opposition party in the last assembly, was wiped out. One more seat was in doubt.

The popular vote was not nearly so lopsided. Though the Liberals had 54 per cent, a gain of nine per cent over the 1970 results, the Parti Quebecois had 30 per cent, or a gain of seven per cent. It replaced the Union Nationale as the official opposition party.

The Canadian Press tabulation of the popular vote from 17,964 of the 18,957 election districts was Liberals 1,513,897, Parti Quebecois 836,752, Social Creditiste 288,050, Union Nationale 147,140, others 6,656.

"I think the election is a defeat of the separatist option despite the increase in the PQ's popular vote," said Bourassa.

New IHC parts, service center to open Nov. 1

International Harvester Co. announces that its new parts and service facilities on Robinson Road are almost ready for opening.

Thursday, Nov. 1, has been set for the grand opening of an eight-bay shop and a parts department with a beginning inventory of approximately $30,000.

Parts & Service Center, the name of the new firm, will employ seven Fayette County people in the beginning, with more to be added later.

Charlie Pitts, a former Washington C.H. resident, will operate the local store along with another in London. Experienced people in this type of business will head the respective departments. A parts man, bookkeeper and four mechanics will start scheduling work at 632 Robinson Rd. Nov. 1. Parts will be for sale starting that day.

The location was chosen because of its accessibility to customers throughout the county and adjoining areas. With the widening of Robinson Road and the opening of new U.S. 35 by-pass most customers from the rural areas can drive to the new store with ease. A 6000 square foot floor area and one acre lot with high fence will provide an adequate service area and security for customers' vehicles on the premises.

Pitts, along with a local man will be in communication with the London operation which has $70,000 worth of parts to draw from, along with an eight man service department.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Larry Burchett, Mrs. Thomas Bunch, and Paul Edgington took part in the program.

Frank Sanderson, president of the local board of Camp Fire Girls, installed the new officers of the Indian Chief Bluebirds. They are: President - Karla Terry; vice president - Katie Moore; secretary - Anne Tye; treasurer - Nikki Brown; and News Reporter - Mary Bunch.

After the Ceremonial, refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Tye, Mrs. Leroy Davis, and Mrs. Warren Craig.

Parents and friends attending the tea were: Mrs. David Shepler and Jody, Mrs. Edith Schloegel, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Davis and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. John Forsha Jr. and family, Rhonda Forsha, Mr. Sanderson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown, Teresa Butcher, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edgington and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bunch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Malone, Mrs. Gene Wissinger, Mrs. Larry Burchett, Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Terry and family, Mrs. Warren Craig and Mrs. Charles Tye.

The Indian Chief Bluebirds met on Saturday to join in the annual Halloween Parade. Although the group won no prizes, a good time was had by all. Following the parade, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson met the girls and drove them to the Haunted House of East Court Street where they were the guests of Ann Tye.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kelley attended the 44th annual meeting, luncheon and program of The Ohioana Library Association held Saturday at the Capital University Learning Center, in Columbus. Many outstanding authors and composers and other notable persons were honored with citations, including Col. John H. Glenn, "The Nation's First Man-in-Orbit", native of Cambridge, to whom was awarded the Ohioana Career Medal for 1973. Col. Glenn, in addition to his flight to the moon, also during the last world war flew 59 missions, and was 18 times cited for bravery. His speech was rated one of the best of several given at the meeting by famous persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong and daughter Molly, 121 W. Temple St., were at Miami University, Oxford, Saturday for "Parents Day" and a visit with their son, Mark, who is a sophomore. En route home they attended 'open house' and the 10th anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. James Anders in Sabina.

Mrs. Paul Gerhardt, 92 Hawthorn Dr., has returned home from Media, Pa., where she spent the summer with her daughter and family, Mrs. Warren E. Denen.

Mrs. Stella Bottenfield, 132 N. Oakland Ave., spent the weekend in Frankfort visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lyle Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fultz, 2060 St. Rt. 35-NW, visited their son and daughter-in-law and family near Chillicothe last Sunday.

Mrs. George Sollars, 834 Washington Ave., spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sollars in Columbus, and friends in Mooreville, Ind.

Mrs. Willard Judy, 1029 Dayton Ave., has returned home from Nashville, Tenn., where she spent the weekend. She accompanied a group from Wilmington to the Grand Ole Opry.

Mrs. Flint honored at surprise party

Mrs. Vesper Flint, 678 Robinson Rd., was pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon by her children and grandchildren. Taken to the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hicks, 1115 S. Main St., on the pretense of 'going out to eat,' other members of the family had gathered at the home, and upon her arrival everyone shouted "Happy Birthday!"

Others present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Monroe and sons, Troy and Rickey, and Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Hicks and Roger, Earlmo, Keith and Robin Lynn, and Barbara and Lisa Minnich of Mount Sterling.

Prizes won by many at Halloween party

Members of the Jud-I-Ques Square Dance Club held a Halloween party in Eastside School Saturday evening, and a dance followed. All came in costumes. Prizes were given for the prettiest to Mrs. Donald Knapp; the ugliest to Mrs. Ed Knisley; and for the most unusual, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Howell were co-chairmen for the event; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cotner were in charge of the games and contests; and Jim Lambert was caller for the dancing.

A wiener roast followed the dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knisley.

Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConkey, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Summers, Floyd Cotner, Sean and Sheila Core and Mark and Jan Frazier. Teenage members of the Yellow Rockers' present were Diane Blessing, Diane Burke, Gina Cotner, Starr Howell, Cindy and Mike Knapp, David and Mina Knisley and Chris Smith.

TV Viewing

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Change 325 on the Watergate show: The Public Broadcasting Service now says it may broadcast unabridged reruns of some of the coming Senate Watergate Committee hearings.

A PBS spokesman, who last week said there'd be no gavel-to-gavel reports of future hearings on Public TV, says that position has been changed by the stormy public reaction to President Nixon's firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

"I think the whole public reaction simply indicates that if we can possibly do it, we are obligated to provide the coverage," he said.

He emphasized that in no way will all evening videotape reruns of future Watergate hearings be gavel-to-gavel. It will depend on the importance of each witness, he explained.

As an example, he said, PBS undoubtedly would rebroadcast the full testimony of Cox—fired Oct. 20 by Nixon—were Cox to be called on to appear before the Senate Watergate Committee.

"We haven't made any decisions yet," he said, referring to such coverage. "However, we're gearing up and ... getting ready to go gavel-to-gavel if we feel it's warranted."

He added that PBS' plans for evening broadcasts of each day's hearings—and the length of such broadcasts—won't really be settled until PBS officials can study the scheduled appearances of future Watergate committee witnesses.

The PBS spokesman said the initial decision against gavel-to-gavel reruns of the coming hearings was made earlier this month after PBS polled its stations about future Watergate evening broadcasts.

At that time, he said, many public TV stations felt the hearings had "ground down to the point of dullness" and most of them said they no longer wanted the gavel-to-gavel repeats PBS has run in the past.

He said they also didn't want the occasional three-hour abridged versions of the hearings, but that they did want PBS to stay "flexible" in its coverage plans.

PBS had planned to ask the stations again late last week what Watergate hearing coverage they wanted rebroadcast at night. But it instead decided to stick with the stations' previous orders to use its own judgement, the spokesman said.

Referring to future gavel-to-gavel repeats PBS may run at night, he said, "we're going to wait and see who the committee's witnesses are and then we're going to simply tell the stations that we're going to feed it."

SHE'D DO IT AGAIN — Mrs. Ernest W. Rivers lost her job as clerk of the U.S. District Court in Paducah, Ky., after writing to newspapers, contrasting the penalties incurred by an 18-year-old shoplifter with that levied against former Vice President Spiro Agnew. She said she believes what she wrote — that the penalties against Agnew were too lenient — and would do it again.

County school head reviews need for bond issue passage

BY GUY M. FOSTER
Superintendent,
Fayette County Schools

The citizens of the Miami Trace School District will be voting this fall on an important school bond issue.

If passed, steps will be taken to construct a new junior high school for all seventh and eighth grade students of the district. Additional funds would be available for renovation of the existing elementary buildings.

An extensive study was conducted by a citizens advisory group in the spring of 1973. The group toured all the elementary buildings and held follow-up meetings with school personnel. The findings of the committee suggested that (1) there is not adequate junior high education for students due to lack of building space and equipment (2) the elementary schools are generally overcrowded and in need of repair and (3) state minimum standards are not being met.

THE FINDINGS of the committee were reviewed with the Board of Education, and there was general agreement that the upper elementary students deserved greater opportunities for learning.

Introductions to vocational subjects such as industrial arts and home economics, expanded library facilities, extended physical education and intramural programs, specialized language, math, art, science and music classes as well as personalized counseling services are a few examples of needed expansion. With additional equipment and adequate space for subjects areas, more effective methods of teaching could be employed.

Realizing the various needs of the junior high age group, a review of the physical condition of the buildings has made to determine the feasibility of adding to present buildings. The buildings in general are old and at a state where additions of any dimensions are undesirable. At the present time all rooms are being used and some classrooms are overcrowded. Several undesirable spaces are being used for classroom.

The other major discouraging factor toward adding special areas such as industrial arts to all six junior high buildings centered around the cost of duplicating equipment, and then having rooms that would only be utilized a short time during the day.

TAKING THESE findings into account, the committee and board agreed that the best direction to take pointed toward a new building for all seventh and eighth grade students of the district. In this manner a broader offering with improved teaching methodology could be attained at a reasonable cost. With the approximate 650 students coming out of present buildings, additional space would be available for improvements for the kindergarten through sixth grade.

Action then followed to place the school bond issue on the November ballot.

The total cost figure for the bond issue is $2,036,000. It is expected that in general figures, one quarter of a million dollars will be used for renovating present buildings and one and three quarter millions will be used for the new building. Bonds will be sold to be retired over a 22-year period. The average millage rate based on present property valuation would amount to an average of 2.15 mills, beginning at 2.64 and tapering off to a rate of 1.67. For a family owning a house and lot that would sell for $20,000, the additional tax would amount to near $17 per year.

THE INCREASED millage rate for schools in the district would still be considerably below state average and that of surrounding districts. In 1972, the total tax rate for schools in the Miami Trace District was 21.95 mills while the average in the state was 33.69.

Although the school board is concerned about the tax load on property owners, this is their only avenue for raising money for a large school project. Along with this thinking, a point could be made that the state income tax has allowed for major boosts in support of schools.

Also the property owner has realized a 10 per cent rollback on real estate. In the area of agriculture, the personal property tax has been phased out. The Homestead Exemption Act has relieved several of those on retirement.

Operating costs for schools will continue to climb. Unless additional monies were received from state sources, local tax rates must be raised unless property valuations increase considerably.

Keeping the old buildings open and adding a new one will increase costs. However, some areas such as transportation would not be increased greatly.

IT IS EXPECTED that the present fleet of buses could transport the seventh and eighth grades on the present high school routes. The student would be coming toward the center of the district and the building would be located only about one mile south of the high school on Ohio 41.

The board presently has an option to purchase the land if they so desire before Nov. 15. Any expenditure for a school site will be determined by the passage of the issue. At this time the land has not been purchased, neither has the architect obligated the school district.

Phil Grover and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vanzant are chairing the Miami Trace Junior High and School Improvement Bond Issue Committee. An effort is being made to inform the citizenry of the needs of the school district and how this proposal could improve the program for the upper elementary grades.

Questions are being directed to many workers, the committee and school board members and administration. Efforts are being directed to the call of junior high school student who calls out — "Help! My Mind Needs You!"

Gilligan backs party endorsements

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan says he thinks the best argument for political parties endorsing candidates in primary elections is "the name game that has been played in Ohio politics."

"The voters are confused by all the Tafts, Browns, and O'Neills," he said. "I think it is important for the parties to endorse, and that any party worth its salt will take a public position."

Gilligan's reference was to the entry into politics of candidates with the same name as others who have gone ahead of them and found success among the electorate.

It has happened rather frequently, and more often than not, without the newcomer being related to the forerunner with whom he may hope to be confused.

One of the latest to come forward is William M. O'Neill, 26-year-old Vietnam veteran who recently announced his first political venture — a quest for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

O'Neill is a Chagrin Falls native, and makes no bones about the possibility he could be linked by voters with Chief Justice C. William O'Neill of the Ohio Supreme Court, or the chief justice's son, whose name also is William and who serves in the Ohio House. The chief justice is a former GOP governor.

An associate of Thomas A. Cloud of

Ambitious tourist plan set for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Gilligan administration has announced plans to more than double the number of tourist information centers in the state, after attendance at Ohio tourist attractions jumped nearly 30 per cent this year.

Dr. David C. Sweet, director of economic and community development, attributed the attendance to state-level promotion tools like the three existing information centers and the toll-free "Infohio" line.

He said the state will build seven more tourist information centers at key points of entry to Ohio.

Snap up a bargain.

Dayton, a Montgomery County commissioner, showed up at the Statehouse with literature plugging Cloud as a candidate for state office with the office not yet selected. Cloud is no relation to Roger Cloud, the former state auditor, five-term speaker of the House, and unsuccessful candidate for governor against Gilligan in 1970. The literature handed out on behalf of the Dayton Cloud called him "a natural candidate for state office."

There is, of course, virtually no end to the Tafts and Browns—both of whom practically dominated Republicanism in Ohio for years until 1970 when an unknown William J. Brown came out of Lisbon, Ohio, as a Democrat and got himself elected attorney general.

The Democratic Party has named a candidates committee which is expected to recommend endorsements to the party's state executive committee about Jan. 1 — well ahead of the Feb. 6 filing deadline.

Republicans have a similar group which has been interviewing prospective candidates, but leaders have not said there will be firm endorsements for the primary.

Need for health levy explained at meeting

The Fayette County Health Department's additional tax levy, which will be appearing on the November ballot, was explained at a meeting of the Fayette County Health Levy Committee Monday at the Health Department offices.

Edward Vollette, chairman of the health levy committee, pointed out that there has been no additional health tax levy presented to the voters of Fayette County since the original levy was approved in 1956.

The 20-mill levy, which will be before all Fayette County voters at the polls next Tuesday, is to insure continued health protection for Fayette Countians, such as nursing supervision for expectant mothers, infants, crippled children, chronic diseases and mental health; a resource center for the school health program including vision, hearing, tuberculosis screening, health appraisals and health education plus safety and maintenance concerns; emphasis on disease prevention including immunizations, venereal disease and other communicable disease control; tuberculosis control; home nursing care, family planning, continuation of the sanitation program of milk and restaurant inspections, nuisances, sewage disposal, landfill inspections, safe water supplies and animal bites; recording information concerning birth and death registrations.

DR. WILLIAM E. COVERT, health commissioner, said that the additional health levy amounts to two cents for each $100 of valuation or 20 cents for each $1,000 of valuation for a five-year period.

Dr. Covert urged that if any questions should arise concerning the health levy, persons should call the Health Department (335-5910).

Vollette assigned each committee member certain phases of the campaign. Members of the committee besides the members of the Fayette County Health Department are the Rev. Gerald Wheat, Fred St. Clair, Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Robert Goodson, James Dunn, Robert Bishop, Mrs. Robert Pero, Richard Patton, Mrs. Paul Cox, Marion Stockwell, Mr. James Smith, Mrs. Raymond Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoppes and Jess Schlichter.

Vollette said that the ever increasing cost of present services make it necessary to ask for a 2-mill health levy with 100 per cent of the money being used for county health services.

The new levy would double the present millage for health purposes.

Derailment starts fire in Kentucky

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) —Six cars of a Chessie System 50-car freight train jumped the track near here today shortly after 6 a.m. and touched off a series of explosions and a raging fire, state police reported.

There apparently were no injuries but the occupants of one residence were evacuated, officials said.

Officers pin-pointed the location of the derailment as being at Norton Branch near Rush in Boyd County, about 10 to 15 miles south of Ashland.

Fire departments from Ashland, Westwood and Grayson were dispatched to the scene to battle the fire that broke out in the derailed cars.

Dick Lehman of the Ashland Fire Department said the blaze involved a minimum of six cars. "Some of them contained a kind of acrylic," he said. State troopers said the cars carried a caustic soda—sodium hydroxide.

The fires were brought under control about 2½ hours after the wreck and preparations were being made by mid-morning to remove the wreckage.

The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. A radio dispatcher at the state police headquarters at Ashland said early reports that an automobile or truck might have been involved were untrue.

Police hunt missing girl

The disappearance of a Washington C.H. girl, missing for no apparent reason since Saturday at 5:30 p.m., has been reported to police.

Donna Lynn Hurlies, 18, of 629 E. Paint St. was last seen wearing Levi jeans, a blue and white striped shirt, a red jacket and blue tennis shoes.

She is 5 feet, 4 inches in height, weighs 160 pounds, has light brown hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion.

Also reported to police was another stolen bike incident and a broken window.

A boy's 10-speed bicycle was taken from the rear patio of the Betty Burke home, 620 Rose Ave., between 7:45 p.m. and 7:45 p.m., Monday.

Police recovered the bike at Rose Avenue School, but the thief damaged it by knocking out some spokes.

A thrown rock broke a window Monday at the Virginia Gano residence, 1155 Gregg St. The incident occurred around noon.

The Sheriff's Department reported only one offense Monday, discovered by Millard Howard, Bloomingburg, at 9:30 a.m.

Someone bent the nameplate on his mailbox and knocked his newspaper holder off its post.

Money Does Matter . . .

By J. W. Wallace

ASK YOURSELF JUST A FEW SIMPLE QUESTIONS:

Before you borrow money (most people have to, sometime) ask yourself: 1. - Am I sure that I will keep my job? 2. - Will a time-payment obligation ruin my budget? 3. - Will a time-payment contract make me unable to meet an emergency?

There are times when it is a good idea to borrow money — for mortgages, cars, furniture, personal expenses, etc.

Just remember this: It does make a difference where you borrow — don't let borrowing rule you — and borrow only for what you need!

Jasper carnival clears $1,200

MILLEDGEVILLE — The Halloween carnival Oct. 21 at the Jasper School here cleared $1,200.68, the treasurer, Joann Lovett reports.

The keystone to the success of the affair were the hams donated by Jerry Fitzpatrick, Roger Hiser, Mike Bobbitt, G. Pinney, R. Glass, Dean Mann and Frank Bowermaster.

Tickets were sold by students in the third and sixth grades and each of the top salesmen was awarded a cash prize. The overall winners were Garland Fitzpatrick, first, Amy Stockwell, second, and Kristin Herdman, third. The sixth grade winners were Kelly Lane, Tony Hendricks and Teresa Hill and the third grade winners were Kim Bowermaster, Terry Davis and Robbie Hanschell.

Parents responsible for the carnival were: Mrs. Larry Lane and Mrs. Sid Woodrow, general chairmen; Mrs. Joann Lovett and Mrs. Opal Hendricks, tickets; Mrs. Frances Herdman, kitchen; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowermaster, games; Mrs. Robert Alkire, general store; and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Reynolds, Mrs. Larry Anderson and Mrs. John Grooms, cake walks.

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Cathedral of Tomorrow will repay security holders under a plan agreed to by the State of Ohio.

Lawyers for the state Monday agreed in court here to the repayment plan after language which the state termed an "indirect solicitation" was removed from a previous court order.

Common Pleas Judge Paul Riley agreed with the Ohio Commerce Department that the language in question was inconsistent with his previous order.

The state last January charged Rex Hubbard's nondenominational church, based near Akron, with selling unregistered securities.

HARTWELL, Ga. (AP) — Hart County sheriff's deputies said Monday that first-degree murder charges have been filed against Stephen M. Trask, 18, of New Hampshire, in the stabbing death of Keith Allen Ashworth, 19, of Springfield, Ohio.

Ashworth's body was pulled from Lake Hartwell near here on Sept. 12. He was identified three weeks later through dental x-rays and a Marine Corps' tattoo.

Deputies said both men were allegedly absent without leave from the New River Marine Corps Air Station at Onslow, N.C., at the time of the slaying.

Deputies said witnesses reported seeing Trask and Ashworth fighting

Lions continue bid for mythical title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)— Warren Western Reserve, Washington Court House and Newark Catholic carry The Associated Press state poll leads into the final two weeks of the Ohio high school football season.

All command sizable edges over their opposition in the weekly balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Warren Western Reserve, ahead of No. 2 Cincinnati Moeller 272-222 in Class AAA, and Washington Court House, with 209 points to runnerup Minerva's 181 in Class AA, are bidding for their first mythical state crowns.

Newark Catholic, the Class A pacesetter with 188 points to 168 for runnerup Cory Rawson, is gunning for its second AP championship. The Green Wave won the 1968 crown.

Western Reserve, however, won the first Class AAA state football playoff title after finishing second behind Massillon in the 1972 poll.

Newark Catholic probably faces the toughest test this week, risking its 7-0-0 record against Class AA Heath, which has a 5-2-1 mark.

Western Reserve faces Cuyahoga Falls and Washington Court House plays Court House plays county rival Miami Trace.

Only one new face moved into the top tens. Lakewood St. Edward, unbeaten in eight games, tied Newark for the No. 9 spot in Class AAA.

Akron Garfield was third in Class AAA, followed by Massillon, Fremont Ross, Youngstown Mooney, Canton McKinley and Barberton, in that order.

In Class AA, Cincinnati Reading, Ironton, Dayton Jefferson and Lisbon Beaver kept the third through sixth spots. Cleveland Benedictine moved from ninth to seventh, Newark Licking Valley from tenth to eighth. Columbus Watterston fell from eighth to ninth and Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary from seventh to No. 10.

In Class A, Ada made the biggest move, going from fifth to third.

Marion Pleasant, the Class A leader most of this season and the winner of the last two state poll championships, was fourth again. Ada was fifth, Portsmouth Notre Dame sixth, Sugar Grove Berne Union seventh, Norwalk St. Paul eighth, East Canton ninth and Kirtland tenth.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a state-wide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth).

San Diego may yet lose Padres

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The clock may be ready to strike midnight for San Diego's National League baseball franchise after the collapse of an 11th-hour purchase offer.

Mayor Pete Wilson said Monday the City Council had refused unanimously to approve terms of a new stadium lease sought by Marjorie L. Everett, leading stockholder in Hollywood Park Race Track.

"The interests of the baseball public had to be weighed against the interest of the taxpayers and the city could not go that far," said Wilson, one of the council's nine members.

He said two other groups have contacted him, one of local business interests and the other from out of town, and talked of trying to keep the Padres in San Diego.

Wilson didn't identify either group, but said, "obviously the same problem is going to exist for these groups as for Mrs. Everett."

Mrs. Everett's unexpected offer to buy part of the club and keep it in San Diego stalled a scheduled vote by National League club owners Oct. 5 on C. Arnholt Smith's proposal to sell the Padres to a Washington, D.C., group for $12 million.

The league gave the team 30 days to complete the deal.

Weaver named top AL pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Patient Earl Weaver, who remodeled the Baltimore Orioles from a slow, slugging team into a fast, opportunistic club that recaptured the 1973 American League East Division pennant, was chosen today as AL Manager of the Year.

The stocky Weaver was a landslide winner in balloting conducted by The Associated Press before the playoffs and World Series. He earned 170 votes from sports writers and broadcasters in outpolling Jack McKeon of the Kansas City Royals, runnerup with 91 nominations.

Brown raps Steelers grid fans

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown doesn't think Pittsburgh Steelers fans are "sporting" with opposing teams.

He was also agast at the treatment of Steelers quarterback Terry Bradshaw during the Steelers' 20-13 victory in the rematch with Cincinnati. Cincinnati won here two weeks ago 19-7.

"They are noisy," said Brown of the Pittsburgh fans, and they don't "give other teams that play there a sporting chance."

"There's a very good reason for their long string of 12 victories at home," He said crowd noise swells when opposing teams have the ball, but quiets when Pittsburgh has it.

"It's impossible to check off or audible or even hear the cadence in that intense noise," he said. Cincinnati quarterback Kenny Anderson, at Brown's order, walked away from the line three successive times at one point because of the noise.

Brown also said the noise prevented Cincinnati linemen from hearing blocking audibles on a punt and Pittsburgh tackled kicker Dave Lewis on the three-yard line. They scored three plays later.

Harper's play aids Wittenberg

SPRINGFIELD — Lowell Harper, a Wittenberg University senior tight end from Washington Court House, continued his string of outstanding performances as the unbeaten and 7th ranked Tigers blasted Mount Union college 35-17 last Saturday to run their season record to 7-0.

Harper caught three crucial third and long yardage passes for 61 yards that set up three Wittenberg touchdowns in the game's early stages.

The big pass catcher and blocker now is the Tigers' second leading receiver with 10 catches for 209 yards and a 20.9 average per reception.

If Wittenberg wins its next two games, it will be Tigers' third unbeaten season on the field in the last five years.

Harper's offensive performances has helped power the Tigers to fourth place nationally in small college scoring with an average of 32 points a game. The Tigers' defense ranks fifth yielding seven points a game.

pionships, finished third with 41 votes. Del Crandall of the Milwaukee Brewers was fourth with 12 votes.

Then came Frank Quilici of the Minnesota Twins, Ralph Houk of the Yankees, Bobby Winkles of the California Angels, Chuck Tanner of the Chicago White Sox, and Billy Martin, who piloted both Detroit and Texas, with one vote each. Tanner was last year's winner.

This is the first Manager of the Year honor for Weaver, although he directed the Orioles to three straight pennants and over 100 victories each year beginning in 1969.

After that string, Baltimore slipped to third in the AL East in 1972, but

More reserved seats on hand for Friday

Officials at Miami Trace High School are preparing for a capacity crowd at Friday night's football game between Washington C.H. and Miami Trace.

Delmar Mowery athletic director at Miami Trace, said that a decision has been made to create more reserved seats in anticipation of a bulging at the seams crowd.

MOWERY said about 200 seats, previously sold as general admission, will be marked as reserved seats temporarily. The seats will be used as general admission after the Washington C.H.-Miami Trace game.

By offering the seats as reserved, the number of general admission seats is reduced, but school officials that this move would better accomodate the fans.

A pre-sale of reserved seats tickets for Friday night's game will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Miami Trace High School, according to ticket manager Glenn Marchal.

Marchal said that there will be a limit of four tickets per person at the pre-sale Wednesday. General ad-

O.J. tops 1,000; Bills pop Chiefs

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — O.J. Simpson was nearing the 1,000-yard mark, rushing that is, and Joe Ferguson said, "The guys in the huddle got all excited."

"Let's block for him," the rookie quarterback of the Buffalo Bills said they shouted, making it difficult for Ferguson to call the next play.

O.J. took the ball and reached 1,000 yards.

"Let's get him some more," his teammates shouted again, Ferguson said, as they once again huddled.

Well, they did. Simpson, the All-American Heisman Trophy winner from Southern California, reeled off 157

WCH booster call

The Washington C. H. football boosters will hold its regular meeting tonight at 8:00 in the senior high choir room according to Richard R. Willis president.

Films of last Friday's game with Circleville will be viewed and reports on the upcoming game with Miami Trace will be given.

The public is invited to attend.

Hayes sees rugged contest against hustling Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It will be like looking in a mirror for top-ranked Ohio State when it visits Illinois Saturday in a showdown of Big Ten football co-leaders.

"The guts of the Illinois offense is very similar to ours," said Buckeye assistant Coach Chuck Clausen, charged with scouting the Illini attack.

"They run their fullback inside and use their tailback inside and on bounced back for its fourth East title in five years this season.

The Orioles, after a slow start, didn't pull away from the field until putting together a 14-game winning streak in late August.

Their 97-65 record gave Weaver a remarkable 543-337 mark for a .617 percentage since he replaced Hank Bauer as manager July 11, 1968.

The 43-year-old Weaver is convinced the future might be just as good. "I said earlier this year that our farm system has produced enough outstanding players for this team to win six division championships in the next 10 years," he said. "I see no reason to change my mind now."

Bucks hold top spot in AP grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High-flying Ohio State remains in a holding pattern above the rest of America's college football teams—holding onto No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Buckeyes, 60-0 winners over Northwestern this past weekend, piled up 36 first-place votes and 1,148 total points Monday from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

It was the fifth straight week for Ohio State in the No. 1 position. The Buckeyes held a slim lead over Alabama, No. 2 with 1,052 points.

The Crimson Tide, which crushed Virginia Tech 77-6, collected 12 of the 62 first-place votes supplied this week.

The rest of the top four teams stayed firm with No. 3 Oklahoma pulling down nine first place votes and 961 points and No. 4 Michigan with one first-place ballot and 876 points.

Oklahoma walloped Kansas State 56-14 and Michigan routed Minnesota 34-7 over the weekend.

Notre Dame replaced Penn State as the No. 5 team after beating Southern

Milt Morin treated for shoulder bruise

CLEVELAND (AP)—Cleveland Browns tight end Milt Morin was expected to be released from Shaker Medical Center this morning.

Morin suffered a deep bruise of the right shoulder early in the first period of Sunday's game against the San Diego Chargers. It is questionable whether he will be able to play this weekend when the Browns' play the undefeated Minnesota Vikings.

No player callup

CINCINNATI (AP)—The Buffalo Sabres of the National Hockey League will not call up a player from the Cincinnati Swords to replace superstar center Gilbert Perreault.

Perreault broke a leg Sunday in a game with the New York Islanders.

The Fighting Irish, seeking their first national title since 1966, moved up from No. 8 with 754 points. Undefeated Penn State dropped one place to No. 6 despite overwhelming West Virginia 62-14 for its seventh straight victory this year.

The Nittany Lions were favored for No. 1 by four voters.

Louisiana State also stayed unbeaten through seven with a 33-29 victory over South Carolina that boosted the Tigers from ninth to seventh. They had 518 points.

Arizona State made the Top Ten for the first time this year, moving from No. 11 to No. 8 by routing Oregon State 44-14. Southern Cal, No. 6 last week, dropped to No. 9 and just nosed out crosstown rival UCLA for that spot.

The Trojans had 331 points to 307 for No. 10 UCLA.

Archibald given fine for remark

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nate Archibald, the superstar, the heart and soul of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, had had enough.

But expressing his frustrations about his team's lastplace standing to sports writers — criticizing his teammates publicly — was too much for Coach Bob Cousy. He slapped Archibald with a fine of undisclosed amount.

"I'm not defending what Tiny said, but I think that he was frustrated from not having played and spoke without thinking of the situation," Cousy said.

The all-pro guard, out for three games with an injury to an Achilles tendon, played 20 minutes Sunday night in the Kings' 112-110 loss to the Buffalo Braves. His contribution to the losing cause was 10

HISTORIC INVENTION--This hand-cranked
"Gramophone," patented by Emil Berliner in 1887, was the first to use discs -- also Berliner's invention
-- instead of cylinders.

Flat disc invention
changed an industry

HAMBURG, Germany (AP) — What began as the first successful reproduction of scratchy sounds on a flat disc in the late 19th century has led to the observance this year of the 75th anniversary of the founding of Deutsche Grammophon Gesellschaft, headquartered here.

In observance of the jubilee year a commissioned work, "1898," was recently introduced here, played by its composer, Mauricio Kagel. The 45-minute composition was featured at a celebration attended by Dr. Gustav Heinemann, President of the Federal Republic of Germany, actor Peter Ustinov, composer

Dr. Karl Bohm, and Oliver Berliner, American grandson of the founder of DGG.

The man who started it, Emil Berliner, invented the first flat disc and developed the first method for mass producing records. The youthful German immigrant had already invented the microphone, a device he sold to Bell Telephone under a patent filed April 14, 1877. The use of Berliner's transmitting device decided for all time that Bell, not Western Union, would launch the telephone business in the United States.

WHICH COMPANY would finally be in the telephone business was settled in court.

The issue turned on whether Berliner or Edison was first with his microphone. The courts decided Berliner had been first.

Berliner, who became a dry goods clerk in Washington D. C. when he arrived there at 19, took night courses and started inventing at his rooming house quarters.

From the microphone he turned to the flat disc. Edison had a ten-year start with his cylinder, but when the great New Jersey inventor turned his attention to the electric light, Berliner was able to do what Edison hadn't — develop a method for mass producing records.

Until then, artists who recorded cylinders had to sing or play into the horn once for each cylinder produced.

THE $2 BILLION recording industry of today owes its start to Berliner's 1887 invention of the flat disc, hand-cranked gramophone and photoengraving system for reproducing records. By 1888 he had evolved the latter into a chemical process not unlike methods used today for mastering and printing records.

Berliner founded the U.S. Gramophone Co. in Washington D.C. in 1893. This company was to become involved in lawsuits that would eventually sustain Berliner's patents but cripple his U.S. gramophone and record businesses.

THE INVENTOR had more lasting success with the Deutsche Grammophon Gesellschaft, which he and his brother Joseph started in Hanover, Germany, in 1898. In 1902, the great Enrico Caruso began a parade of that day's stars to record for DGG, sealing the doom of the cylinder.

In his later years in Washington Berliner introduced pure milk laws into the nation's capital by getting congressmen's wives to listen when their husbands wouldn't. He also perfected an airplane engine capable of low-in-flight speed, forerunner of the helicopter, and an acoustic tile. Berliner died in 1929.

Preparing a Child for Surgery

Our child is to be admitted to the hospital in a few months for corrective eye surgery.

We know of your interest in preparing children for the tonsil operation.

Do you have any suggestions about how we might prepare our child for this type of surgery?

Mr. and Mrs. W.L.H., Tenn.

Dear Mr. and Mrs. H.:

The preparation of children for any type of operation has its basis in the concept of telling the child the complete truth about what he can expect at the hospital.

Doctors and psychologists have learned that when a child is armed with the truth and with an explanation of the reason for the operation he can encompass the entire experience with remarkably little emotional aftermath.

Doctors and parents now combine in

In the area of photography the item that shows the greatest price increase is repair. We just can't stress enough the importance of taking good care of your equipment. Impact damage is high on the list of problems. Don't drop the camera! Keep the neck strap short so that the camera won't swing wildly and hit the car door or a rock along the trail. At the age of about 45 you might be tempted to lengthen the camera straps to see the focusing scale more clearly — forget it, go to bifocals.

Heat is an enemy of your camera. Keep it away from the rear window in the car. That sun can cook it in a short time. On a trip it's best to keep it in a gadget bag, out of the sun.

In our experience, about 80 per cent of the camera and projector damage was done when the equipment was in the hands of other than the owner. There is a good reason for this. First, the owner usually has read the instruction book and is well aware of all the "don'ts" therein. Secondly, there is a type of parasite who never buys anything he can borrow. Since the equipment isn't his, he couldn't care less what happens to it since it didn't cost him anything in the first place. So he is your wife's brother; learn to say "no" when he asks for your Pentax.

Have you selected the slide or negative for your photographic Christmas card this year? Time is growing short for the discount price. Now is the time to work on this year's card.

NICE CARS, but wouldn't you like something more modern?

Auto mishaps caused damage

The Sheriff's Department had only one accident to report Monday. It occurred at 5:45 p.m.

Mary E. Beal, 55, Sabina, slowed down on U.S. 35 in order to make a left turn into a private drive. Leo E. Kelley, 41, Fairborn, attempted to pass and collided with her car doing moderate damage.

The Police Department reported two of the four Monday accidents as being a direct result of weather conditions which produced wet, slippery streets.

A New Holland man, Dudley H. Roth, 77, was waiting for the light to change at the Columbus Avenue and Wilson Street intersection at 11:25 a.m., when his car was hit in the rear by another driven by Andrew Jackson Jr., 21, of 1143 Rawlings St., doing moderate damage to both autos.

Jackson had hit his brakes and gone into a skid. He was charged with not maintaining assured clear distance.

Another New Holland man, John R. Sommers, 35, became involved in an accident at 1:40 p.m., when Jay D. Gordon, 21, Rt. 1, skidded left of center while making a right turn onto Paint Street, off North Street.

The autos received moderate damage and Gordon was charged with driving left of center.

A more serious accident occurred at 2:07 p.m. when a car driven by Janice A. Summers, 22, Bloomingburg, entered Court Street from the Marathon service station parking lot and into the path of an oncoming car driven by Richard T. Tolle, 27, Greenfield.

Mrs. Summers, who was charged by police for failure to yield, claimed injury but did not receive hospital treatment.

Starting without safety was the charge and apparent cause of an accident at 5:31 p.m.

Loren E. Riley, 47, of 1370 Nelson Place, drove out of a parking space on E. Court Street and collided with Roger C. Ater, 18, of 501 Peddicord Ave. Slight damage was done to both autos.

Riley was charged.

Camp David gets heavy Nixon use

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon has become a virtual commuter between the White House and his mountain lodge here, making five trips in the past week.

Never before during his nearly five years in office has Nixon made so many journeys to Camp David, one of his favorite retreats, in such a short period.

The President braved a commuter's nightmare to get here Monday night, driving up in the evening rush hour that invariably clogs northbound highways.

Nixon's only companions on the 70-mile drive were two Secret Service agents.

Shortly after his arrival, the area was hit by high winds, hail and electrical storms.

There was no word on when Nixon would return to the White House and no explanation of why he came.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon would be talking by telephone with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about Middle East developments and working at long distance with other aides on other unspecified matters.

Meanwhile, Warren said he will explore the possibility of documenting the President's charges — made in last Friday's nationally televised news conference — that TV commentators have engaged in "outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting."

Warren made the remark at a news

Farmer-humorist is speaker at Kiwanis president's party

Emerson Marting, Fayette County farmer, cattleman, auctioneer and humorist, entertained Kiwanians and their guests at the annual Presidents Party Monday night in Lafayette Inn with one humorous story after another and then spoke in a more serious vein about Japan, its people and their way of life.

His impressions of Japan were gained on two visits to that country and from a Japanese girl who was a guest in the Marting home for a year.

He said rice is the principal agricultural product, followed by fruits and vegetables. By American standards, he observed the Japanese farms are small, averaging about 2½ acres. Only about 20 per cent of the country is devoted to agriculture. He commented that he and Mrs. Marting found the Japanese people both energetic and hospitable.

MARTING was introduced by Bob Tice and the meeting was conducted by President-elect Guy Foster.

President George Gibbs introduced the presidents of the 10 other Kiwanis clubs in Division 10-W and their wives. Lt. Gov. Howard Kraft responded for the guests.

The past president's pin and plaque were presented to the Rev. Gerald Wheat and distinguished service awards were presented to Gerald Begin, Roger Kirkpatrick and Tom Mossberg.

The group was entertained by the Miami Trace Folk Singers, under the direction of Mrs. Cinda Stinson.

Gormley leaves Enquirer post

Thomas R. Gormley, former Record-Herald advertising director, resigned Monday from his position as executive vice president of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

He had been associated with the Enquirer for a total of 37 years in various capacities and also had served as classified advertising manager of the Lima News in addition to his assignment in Washington C. H. from 1957 to 1961.

Gormley, 54, began his working career with the newspaper while attending Bellevue, Ky., High School. Upon graduation, he joined The Enquirer's Kentucky office and later transferred to the advertising division in Cincinnati.

He was named as executive vice president in April and given direct responsibility for all business affairs of the newspaper, including the advertising, circulation and operations division.

Currently first vice president of the International Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, Gormley, who served in the U. S. Navy in World War II, is also past president of the Ohio Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

He also is a member of the plans board of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau and chairman of the policy committee of the Sunday Metropolitan Newspaper Association.

Saying his plans for the future are indefinite, Gormley observed:

"It is with a sincere sense of loss that I leave The Enquirer, in every sense my alma mater."

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. William J. Keating has ended speculation he would be a Republican candidate for U.S. Senator or Ohio governor by becoming chief executive officer of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Keating, who did not rule out later political ambitions, also said he would resign his congressional seat from the First District of Ohio Jan. 3. He will take over at the newspaper Nov. 1.

Keating, 46, urged Ohio Gov. John Gilligan to call a special election soon after he leaves Congress to give his successor "a distinct advantage" by gaining seniority in the 93rd Congress. His successor would have to stand for re-election in 1975.

Keating, who said his decision to go to the newspaper would permit him to spend more time with his family — he has seven children, said he still felt he could win a state-wide race.

"I have always felt," he said in a statement, "and will continue to feel, very optimistic about my chance to win a statewide election; and, of course, the decision which I have reached today has come after much anguish. Yet, the combination of being with my family and the challenge of the new position prevailed."

Rose Avenue PTO planning carnival

The Rose Avenue Parent-Teacher Organization is now making plans for its annual chicken and noodle supper and carnival at the school from 5 to 9 p.m. Nov. 10. The carnival will include all of the traditional games and contests. A mini bike, car stereo tape deck, 20-inch bike and other prizes will be awarded.

Plans for the event to raise money to buy equipment for the school were outlined at the PTO meeting last week. The annual Halloween parade also was held in the school at this meeting. Costumes were judged in three categories in the rooms of all five grades and two special classes.

The Senate was to vote at 8 p.m. on a Republican version of the bill. A vote

James Nolan to challenge Gov. Gilligan

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Saying he wants to return state tax money to Ohioans, James D. Nolan of Cleveland picked up petitions Monday to seek the 1974 Democratic nomination for governor.

The 51-year-old Cleveland businessman told reporters he has "a good chance to beat Democratic Gov. John Gilligan. I am a moderate and he is an ultra-liberal. I want to give some of that money the state has back to the people."

Nolan referred to revenue generated by Ohio's graduated income tax.

"They have more money than they know what to do with," he said.

Nolan was the Democratic nominee for secretary of state in 1966, one year after he filed a lawsuit that forced reapportionment of the state legislature.

He also sought the party's nomination for lieutenant governor in 1970.

Nolan said he believes he can defeat Gilligan in about 70 of the 88 counties, but "the battle will be in the big counties. I'll have to at least break even in my county. I should be able to at least do that in my home county."

Troop slash talks open in Vienna

VIENNA (AP) — The United States and its NATO allies opened talks today with the Soviet Union and other European Communist nations on a mutual, balanced reduction of troops in Central Europe.

Welcoming the delegates, Austrian Foreign Minister Rudolf Kirchschlaeger declared: "The last days and weeks have shown us all how necessary it is to reach this goal."

During the first two days, the heads of each of the 19 delegations will address the conference. Former Secretary of the Army Stanley R. Resor, the head of the U.S. delegation, and Oleg Khlestov, a legal expert from the Soviet Foreign Ministry, are to speak Wednesday.

Western diplomats preparing for the arms talks have been trying to play down their differences relating to Middle East policies. But the Nixon administration made clear last week it was highly displeased at the refusal of West Germany, Britain and some of its other European allies to help the U.S. airlift to Israel.

This so angered Washington that Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger threatened a unilateral review of the 200,000-man U.S. troop commitment to West Germany, instead of waiting for the outcome of the negotiations with the Soviet Bloc.

America's European allies were angered by the failure of the United States to inform them it was sending arms to Israel from American bases on their territory and also by Washington's placing U.S. troops in their countries on alert last week without informing them in advance.

Say Saxbe to succeed Richardson

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — The Plain Dealer said today it has learned that U.S. Sen. William Saxbe, R-Ohio, is being considered prominently for appointment as attorney general to replace Elliott Richardson.

In a copyrighted story, the Plain Dealer quoted "authoritative sources" as saying Saxbe's nomination may be announced today or Wednesday.

Saxbe confirmed that he has discussed the matter with White House aides, the Plain Dealer said, but was quoted as saying he has "not seen the President, and until I do that's where it stands."

White House aides confirmed that Saxbe had attended a White House meeting Saturday.

Saxbe, who has at times been at odds with the President, particularly on foreign policy, announced Oct. 9 that he will not run for the Senate again next year.

Highway 5 fighting continues

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) — Fighting continued Monday night at two points along Highway 5 as government forces attempted to clear the road to Cambodia's rice bowl, the military command reported today.

The government forces made little headway Monday. The highway, which has not been open to government traffic since Sept. 6, runs from Phnom Penh to Battambang Province, in northwest Cambodia.

Data on Ford to be limited

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Rules Committee has agreed to a Justice Department request that it strictly limit access to 1,400 pages of "raw" FBI investigative reports on the fitness of House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford to be vice president.

Declaring they have no intention of stalling or delaying consideration of the nomination, committee members voted unanimously Monday to call Ford as the first witness at confirmation hearings beginning Thursday morning.

The Senate Democratic leadership, meanwhile, advocated "all due deliberateness" on the nomination.

Rules Committee Chairman Howard W. Cannon, D-Nev., said that Acting Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork last Wednesday withdrew by letter a previous Justice Department promise to provide nine committee members with summaries of the FBI's investigation into Ford's background.

With Cannon abstaining, the committee voted unanimously Monday to accept Bork's new offer to provide only the "raw," meaning unevaluated, investigative file.

Access to that file is limited to Cannon and to the committee's ranking Republican, Sen. Marlow W. Cook, R-Ky. They have been examining the file since Wednesday and are to prepare their own summary for committee members.

Cannon said an FBI man is in the room with him at all times when he is inspecting the reports. He said the agent is thoroughly familiar with the raw data and can answer questions on

All of the material is returned to the Justice Department each day when he and Cook have completed their examination of it, Cannon said.

Cannon said the original promise to provide summaries to all members came from an assistant attorney general whose name he said he could not recall.

The chairman said he preferred the earlier arrangement. "I don't relish myself being put in the position of making the decision of what is and what is not important," he said.

Cannon said he already has gone through about 900 pages of the material and has requested additional information from the FBI.

Raw FBI reports often include unproved and unsubstantiated allegations and innuendo.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Archibald Cox says he has no evidence he was fired as Watergate special prosecutor, because the administration feared his investigation was getting too close to the White House.

But he said White House staff members complained several times about the course of the investigation, and the complaints were relayed to him by then-Atty. Gen. Elliot L. Richardson.

"The attorney general never put pressure on me," Cox told the Senate Judiciary Committee Monday. "In fact, he was caught in the middle . . . We tried to reason some of these things out together."

Cox said he has evidence the political

WASHINGTON (AP) — With an eye on big-power politics in the Middle East, the Nixon administration has asked Congress to suspend efforts to liberalize trade with the Soviet Union or tie commercial transactions to Russian emigration policies.

Peter Flanigan, Nixon's chief adviser on foreign economic policy, told a Senate banking subcommittee hearing Monday the position would be changed if a satisfactory Mideast peace settlement is achieved.

"We think it is inappropriate at this time to deal with these issues," Flanigan testified. "It is clear that a settlement in the Middle East depends on cooperation with Russia."

SUPPLIES FOR TRAPPED EGYPTIANS — An armed Israeli jeep leads a column of vehicles carrying relief supplies to the trapped Egyptian Third Army near the Suez Canal.

Israel pushes for POW listings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Israel pressed Egypt and Syria for prisoner-of-war lists and a prisoner exchange Monday as the Israeli government came under fire at home for letting supplies get through to the stranded Egyptian 3rd Army.

Premier Golda Meir held up plans to return 2,000 wounded Arab POWs until the Arabs come up with a list of Israelis they captured in the war.

Maj. Gen. Shmuel Eyal said the Israeli government believes Egypt is holding about 350 Israelis and Syria about 100. He says Israel is willing to trade the 7,000 Arabs it captured for them.

The semi-official Cairo newspaper Al Ahram said Egypt informed U.N. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim it will give the prisoner list to the International Red Cross, but there was no immediate comment from Israel.

Al Ahram said Egypt made the promise while stressing to Waldheim "the necessity of Israeli troops withdrawing" to their positions when the first U.N. cease-fire went into effect Oct. 22.

An Israeli military delegation led by Maj. Gen. Aharon Yariv met Monday for the third time with Egyptian officers at the cease-fire line on the west bank of the canal, and an Israeli spokesman said they discussed the prisoner situation. More such meetings were expected, the Israeli command said.

Many Israelis criticized their government for permitting relief supplies to reach the encircled Egyptian troops along the southeast side of the Suez Canal.

Some said the plight of the stranded troops should have been used as a bargaining point to get the POW exchange arranged.

U.N. drivers Monday took 100 truckloads of food, water and medicine through Israeli lines six miles north of Suez on the west bank of the canal, and Egyptian amphibious vehicles began taking the supplies across the waterway.

A U.N. officer said the total shipment will last the estimated 20,000 Egyptian troops about a week, but there was no word of moves toward arranging another supply operation.

The Jerusalem Post said all 120 persons who responded to its opinion sampling believed that the prisoner lists should have come before the supplies were let through.

Maj. Gen. Avraham Adan, the commander of Israel's armored corps, watched the supplies being ferried across the canal and commented: "They are our enemy. They started the war. I never heard of giving food to the enemy — and they haven't even shown the elementary humanity of giving us the names of our prisoners of war."

Some Israeli soldiers made their criticism directly to Mrs. Meir when she visited the army on both banks of the canal Monday.

A spokesman said she told one soldier: "Nobody ever doubted you could lick old 3rd Army, but there are political considerations." She added that the United States had told her it and the Soviet Union would press the Arabs for a POW exchange.

Kissinger, Fahmy discuss Mideast

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger and special Egyptian envoy Ismail Fahmy scheduled their second meeting in less than 18 hours today to discuss cementing the Middle East cease-fire and the opening of Arab-Israeli talks.

The two were supposed to have held their first session today, but Fahmy requested an earlier audience as he got off his plane Monday afternoon.

Kissinger agreed and the two met for 90 minutes Monday evening at the State Department to discuss a message sent by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat.

The two officials then agreed to meet today as originally planned.

Both Egyptian and U.S. officials were close-mouthed about the details of the meetings, although Fahmy and Kissinger did make some guarded statements Monday night.

"Very satisfactory," said Fahmy of the first meeting, "I am very pleased the secretary was able to see me." In answer to a question, the Egyptian added that the discussion was promising.

Kissinger was asked if he agreed. "Yes," he answered, adding that the talks covered "the whole complex — the cease-fire and after."

Other officials of both governments said Fahmy outlined Egypt's traditional demands of Israeli withdrawal from conquered territory as a condition for negotiations.

However, they indicated the most important goal of his mission was to learn firsthand the U.S. thinking on the Middle East and examine the seriousness of the American pledges to treat the Arabs fairly in helping arrange peace talks.

While Kissinger pursued his goal of gaining Arab respect, other administration officials gave evidence of a second prong to U.S. policy regarding the Middle East.

This involved reminders to Moscow that the United States expects the Soviet Union to act responsibly in solving the Middle East conflict.

Cox links firing to efforts made for papers

files of some White House personnel may have been dumped into President Nixon's own files to protect them from subpoena. Nixon contends his files are immune to subpoena.

Cox was scheduled for more testimony today before the committee, which is holding hearings on his dismissal. He was fired Oct. 20 on Nixon's orders because he refused a presidential directive to halt efforts to obtain White House documents relevant to the Watergate probe.

Asked to summarize the reasons for his firing, the former Harvard law professor replied:

"The single most important factor by which I understood I was being asked to forego further efforts to use judicial process to obtain necessary evidence from White House files . . . evidence I thought essential to pursue an adequate inquiry."

"You thought that request breached your independence and authority?" asked Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark. "I did, senator," Cox replied.

McClellan asked about rumors that Cox was dismissed because his probe was pointing toward the White House.

"I have no evidence to support any of the rumors of this kind," Cox said. "I have seen evidence that some on the President's staff were troubled by the breadth of the guidelines of the investigation."

Cox's firing resulted in the resignations of Richardson and Deputy

Atty. Gen. William D. Ruckelshaus. Both are expected to testify later this week.

The Judiciary Committee has custody of a bill, backed by a majority of the Senate, that would direct the federal courts to name an independent prosecutor to succeed Cox.

Cox told the committee he is convinced the measure provides the wisest method of creating a special prosecutor who would be totally independent of the executive branch.

He added that his successor should be given clear authority to file suit seeking White House evidence.

President Nixon has ordered Acting

Mrs. Meir to confer with Nixon

WASHINGTON (AP) — Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir is coming to the United States to confer with President Nixon on Thursday about the Middle East crisis, the White House announced today.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren also said Nixon would meet on Wednesday with Egypt's acting Foreign Minister Ismail Fahmy, who began exploratory talks with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger on Monday on ways to settle the Middle East conflict.

As part of what he called Nixon's "efforts to bring lasting peace to the Middle East," Warren said the President also would meet at 6 p.m. today at his Camp David, Md., retreat with Soviet Ambassador Anatoly F. Dobrynin, who has been a go-between in the U.S.-Soviet diplomatic moves spawned by the latest outbreak of fighting in the troubled region.

Warren said Mrs. Meir's hastily arranged visit was by "mutual agreement." He said the precise time for the session, which presumably will be held at the White House, had not been set, but was expected to take place at about noon on Thursday.

Majority nixes Nixon impeachment

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A telephone survey conducted by the Atlanta Constitution showed that 59.6 per cent of 267 persons interviewed at random do not want to see President Nixon impeached, the newspaper said in today's editions.

The paper said 26.4 per cent of the 267 favored impeachment.

At the same time, the paper said, 54.5 per cent of those interviewed said they felt the news media has been fair to Nixon, and 31.8 per cent believed the media has been unfair. Nearly 14 per cent had no opinion.

READY AND WAITING — The Ohio Highway Garage, CCC Highway-W, is officially ready for the first snow. State inspection teams visited the headquarters Tuesday morning to check the preparedness of the highway equipment, and Gene Fitzpatrick, local superintendent, was complimented on the condition of the trucks. The vehicles are inspected twice yearly, once in the fall and again in the spring.

WASHINGTON REPORT

From

WILLIAM H. HARSHA Representative To Congress 6th District, Ohio

WASHINGTON — In the wake of the Watergate scandal, numerous bills have been introduced in Congress to close the loopholes in the campaign contribution laws.

One area to which this legislation has not addressed itself until now, however, is the reprehensible use of political espionage in campaigns.

While such things as spying and political pranks are not necessarily anything new to politics or associated only with Watergate — they've been used on me for years — the extent and the sophisticated level to which political espionage is allegedly being employed today is.

The practice of spying or using spies to gather information on or to disrupt the plans and activities of other political candidates or committees can no longer be shrugged off as an inevitable part of the campaign process and tolerated as only a minor transgression.

It must be recognized as the serious threat to fair and open elections that it is and dealt with specifically in the federal campaign election laws.

IT IS for this reason that I am co-sponsoring the "Election Campaign Espionage Act", the purpose of which is three-fold:

First, It would prohibit any employee or volunteer working on behalf of one candidate or political committee to provide any service to another candidate or committee with the intent of interfering with any election or campaign activity of such other candidate or political committee.

Second, It would prohibit the use of contributions or any campaign funds for such espionage purposes, or to aid in the commission of any other offense already prohibited by state or federal law such as wiretapping, electronic surveillance, burglary, breaking and entering and so forth.

Watergate scandal

Atty. Gen. Robert H. Bork to name a new prosecutor, but has said the new man would not have access to presidential records.

The Justice Department said Bork is trying to nail down details of Nixon's guidelines but "Mr. Bork wants to be sure the special prosecutor is not precluded from seeking evidence he is legally entitled to."

At the White House, deputy press secretary Gerald L. Warren said there will be no further public discussion on questions of the role and independence of a special prosecutor until Bork announces his selection.

Elsewhere today, the Senate Watergate committee scheduled an executive session to prepare for Wednesday's resumption of its public hearings.

The House Judiciary Committee planned to consider a bill extending the life of the original Watergate grand jury by six months, and giving U.S. District Court Judge John J. Sirica authority to extend it another six months.

Without legislation, the jury's term would expire Dec. 4.

Meanwhile, White House lawyers were called before Sirica today to outline procedures under which nine tape recordings relevant to Watergate will be surrendered to the judge.

Nixon agreed to comply with Sirica's order to hand over the tapes after it was upheld by the Court of Appeals.

The staff that served under Cox before his firing is intact and functioning, Henry S. Ruth, deputy special prosecutor, told a House Judiciary subcommittee. Ruth said there have been no resignations and nobody has been fired.

Cox told the Senate Judiciary Committee that, on balance, his efforts to obtain White House documents were unsuccessful. He said no Watergate prosecutor could get at the truth without access to such documents.

Third, It establishes as a felony any attempt on the part of an employee or volunteer working in a political campaign to internationally or deliberately conceal any known or suspected violation of this act or any provision of the Federal Election Campaign Act of 1971 and the reporting thereof.

THE LEGISLATION then addresses itself to the fundamental technique of political spying — that of planting people representing one candidate or committee into the headquarters or campaign of an opponent for the express purpose of obtaining information and/or interfering with the election.

The second section of the bill concerns a lesson learned from Watergate. Thousands of dollars of campaign funds were spent to purchase equipment for illegal purposes. However, while the acts themselves of breaking and entering, burglary and "bugging" were unlawful, purchasing the equipment was not, provided it was reported in accordance with existing campaign financing laws.

Under the Election Campaign Espionage Act, even the purchase of such equipment with campaign funds would be illegal.

THE THIRD section of the legislation makes it a felony to conceal or cover up known or suspected violations of this act. Penalties for violations of this act would include a maximum fine of $10,000 or imprisonment for not more than 10 years.

With the next federal elections only a year away, I believe it is extremely important that this legislation be enacted as quickly as possible. The astonishing and shocking campaign abuses as the result of a misguided few which have come to light in the past months have seriously eroded the public confidence in the political process.

That confidence and trust is a most crucial part of our democratic system of government in the United States, and legislation such as this would go a long way toward protecting the integrity of the electoral process and helping to restore the faith of the American people in it.

Arnoff eyes state office next year

MANSFIELD, Ohio (AP) — State Sen. Stanley Aronoff, R-8 Cincinnati, wants to stifle—at least for now—reports he'll be a candidate for lieutenant governor next year.

Truth, he is said, he doesn't know which office he wants to try for, the lieutenant governorship or attorney general. But he said he's "leaning toward" lieutenant governor.

The remarks came Monday in response to newsmen's questions.

Whatever his decision, the 40-year-old lawmaker said he won't make an official announcement until after the current special session of the General Assembly.

Aronoff is chairman of the Senate Elections Committee which is figuring prominently in the session called to legislate campaign financing reforms.

Aronoff faces competition from at least two other Republicans and four Democrats if he files for the $30,000-a-year lieutenant governor's job. The salary is being boosted from the present $17,000.

So far, Republicans vying for the GOP nomination are state Sen. Howard C. Cook, R-1 Toledo, and former Republican state Rep. Keith McNamara of Columbus.

The Democrats are Henry W. Eckhart, former chairman of the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio; state Sen. Anthony O. Calabrese, D-22 Cleveland; William O'Neill of Columbus and William Sweeney of Cincinnati.

Energy crisis to dim Yule across nation

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The energy crisis may dim some of the sparkle for this year's Christmas, a spokesman for the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio said Monday.

John Ledingham said large outdoor Christmas displays that rely on lighting may have to be darkened to conserve electricity.

He said electric utility companies should act voluntarily to reduce the power supplies to the displays that usually adorn public buildings and city thoroughfares during November and December.

Ledingham threatened the utilities with a formal order if they do not act on their own.

The commission, he said, wants the companies to pressure cities and businesses to forego the elaborate holiday displays in the interest of saving energy.

He said the commission recently mailed a letter to company presidents asking them to "re-think the wisdom of large displays and to make suggestions for conserving electricity."

The jurisdiction of the commission in the matter is fuzzy, Ledingham admitted. But he added that the utilities could be ordered to give private homes priority over commercial or municipal displays.

However, Francis A. Coy, board chairman of The May Co. in Cleveland, and chairman of the city's downtown lighting display committee, said there are no plans to reduce or cancel this year's plans.

"We feel that this is part of the development of excitement in a downtown area and that the amount of power used is limited in relation to the total commercial use of a community," Coy said.

In Columbus, the mayor's office said the city's outdoor Christmas trimmings will remain in storage through the holidays. The city council has passed a resolution curtailing Christmas lighting.

Burt Silverman, executive vice president of the Downtown Toledo Association, said the group has delayed opening the city's displays by one week in the interest of conservation.

Silverman said the displays, mostly lighted Christmas trees on utility poles, will begin Nov. 24, instead of Nov. 17.

Rainfall diminished across Ohio early today, although skies remained overcast.

Cool, cloudy weather was forecast to continue over the state today, with scattered light rain or drizzle. Afternoon temperatures in the upper 40s and low 50s were predicted.

The low pressure area, which has been controlling Ohio's weather is forecast to move north from Pennsylvania to Canada by tonight and Wednesday, ending rain in the Buckeye State.

Temperatures tonight will drop to the upper 30s and low 40s, then rise Wednesday afternoon to the mid to upper 50s under cloudy to partly-cloudy skies.

Rainfall amounts were variable overnight and Monday, with Columbus reporting nearly an inch during a 24-hour period ending early today.

Neighboring West Virginia reported light snow in mountain areas overnight, with temperatures hovering around freezing.

A warming trend is expected in Ohio Thursday and Friday, followed by cooler temperatures Saturday. Highs Thursday and Saturday will be in the 60s, with temperatures reaching the 70s Friday. Lows all three days will be in the 40s and low 50s. Thursday and Friday will be fair, with a chance of showers Saturday.

Rain, drizzle and some snow touched much of the eastern third of the nation today, and howling winds blew snow through the Rockies.

Rains lingered from the eastern Great Lakes region into New England, and light rain and drizzle sprinkled the Ohio Valley and eastern Tennessee. Snow whitened the Virginia and West Virginia mountains.

Winds as high as 45 miles per hour struck the New England coast. Gale warnings were posted along the coast and for Lake Huron, and storm warnings were issued for parts of the lower Great Lakes region.

Rainfall in Connecticut, New York State and New Jersey was generally less than 1½ inches. However, New York City received almost two inches of rain Monday, ending 26-day dry spell.

Winds gusting to 48 miles per hour scattered rain and snow in the central Rockies.

Dampness spread into the Pacific Northwest with Quillayute, Wash., measuring more than half an inch of rain Monday night.

Four inches of snow piled up at Lander, Wyo., Monday; and a heavy-snow warning was issued for the northern and central mountains of Colorado today.

A freeze warning was out in northern Georgia after a surprise snow struck early Monday.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 22 at Evanston, Wyo., to 79 at Point Mugu, Calif.

Stock list heads lower

NEW YORK (AP) — Stock market prices headed lower today and brokers said investors were expressing some uneasiness about the strength of the economy.

The opening Dow Jones industrial average was down almost a point and declines outnumbered advances by almost 8 to 5 in slow trading on the New York Stock Exchange.

Analysts said one depressant on the market was the government report that leading economic indicators declined in September for the first time in five months. They said some investors expressed concern that the hoped for economic slowdown could be more severe than earlier expected.

Active issues on the Big Board included Texaco, down ¼ to 33; Levitz Furniture, down ½ to 6; Skyline Corp., up ½ to 16½; Merck, up ¼ to 90¾; and Avon Products, off ¾ to 91½.

On Monday, the Dow lost 2.26 points to close at 984.80 and declines held almost a 4 to 3 lead over advances on the NYSE. Some brokers termed the market's behavior a continued consolidation in the wake of its strong advance earlier this fall.

Urge probe of Albert

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., should undergo the same type of close scrutiny as Vice President-designate Gerald R. Ford, Oklahoma's Republican state chairman says.

Clarence Warner told newsmen Monday that Albert should face a "thorough congressional investigation" since he is in direct line to become president.

Warner said he did not intend to cast aspersions on Albert and that his proposal was not voiced as a "purely partisan political move."

"With events changing from day to day, and with Carl Albert in direct line to succeed to the presidency, should anything occur, I feel it would be best for the country to have such an investigation," Warner said.

"I'm sure Speaker Albert would like to be given a clean bill of health in the event some tragedy would occur and elevate him to the presidency, and I suggest that both ... Albert and ... Ford be given the same type of close scrutiny."

Baker praises work by media

TROY, N.Y. (AP) — The senior Republican on the Senate Watergate committee says the news media has done "an extraordinarily good job" in covering the Watergate story.

Sen. Howard Baker of Tennessee said the press had become what he termed an organ of government and as such had a great responsibility to serve the best interests of the nation.

Baker also told a college audience Monday night that a new Watergate special prosecutor with "extraordinary independence" should be appointed swiftly.

Former price panel chief hopes for end to controls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wage-price controls should be dropped, but not until the economy slows down a little and food prices stabilize, says the former head of the defunct Price Commission.

C. Jackson Grayson Jr., who headed the commission during its 14-month existence until it was disbanded in January, said now is not the time for the Nixon administration to junk controls.

"They can't afford to take them off right now," Grayson said in a telephone interview. "There would be such an explosion in prices that there would be a great demand for more stringent controls."

He said the public resistance would be so great that Congress might even legislate a price freeze, a policy tool he opposes to deal with the present price surge.

Grayson said he saw no chance that controls could be dropped this year but added, "hopefully, early next year, it will be possible. By then, I hope the food-price rises will have abated and the economy will have slowed down to give a little breathing room."

A slower economy usually means there is less pressure for price increases.

Grayson, who has returned to his economics post at Southern Methodist University, said he favored allowing the legal authority for wage-price

Dean pressure on FBI, CIA seen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional report concludes that former White House counsel John W. Dean III put "tremendous pressure" on the FBI as well as the CIA to limit the first Watergate investigation.

The House intelligence subcommittee report, released today, said Dean urged then-acting FBI director L. Patrick Gray with some 25 calls in two weeks to hold off investigating evidence that campaign contributions for President Nixon were involved in the break-in at Democratic National Committee headquarters.

The report quoted Gray as saying Dean's final calls in the effort shortly after the June 17, 1972, break-in were, in the report's words, "made in such a way as to constitute harassment."

It quoted deputy CIA Director Vernon A. Walters as saying Dean told him "the problem was how to stop the FBI investigation beyond the five suspects" caught red-handed in the break-in.

The subcommittee's report on its four-month, closed-door probe of CIA involvement in the Watergate scandal also said:

—When Dean and former top White House aides H.R. Haldeman and John D. Ehrlichman urged that the FBI not investigate the so-called Mexican connection involving Nixon campaign contributions because of possible exposure of secret CIA activities, they were "invoking nonexistent conflicts with CIA operations."

—The CIA and its top officials were nothing more than "unwitting dupes" in supplying disguises used in the Watergate break-in, the burglary of Daniel Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office and other domestic activities.

—Testimony of Gray and Ehrlichman conflict with President Nixon's May 22 statement on how Gray's famous warning to the President that aides were "trying to mortally wound you" came about.

Gray testified that Nixon called back 30 minutes after the acting FBI director gave that warning to a Nixon aide and Gray repeated it to the President, the report said. It quoted Nixon's May 22 statement in which he said he had called Gray on another matter when Gray brought up his concern that, as the President put it, the Watergate investigation would go higher.

Gray told the Senate Watergate Committee the FBI already had learned by then that $89,000 in campaign contributions had gone through a Mexican bank and wound up in the Miami bank account of Bernard L. Barker, one of the five men caught in the Watergate break-in.

Prayer breakfast series continues

The 124 students and teachers at the weekly prayer breakfast Tuesday in the South Side Church of Christ were reminded by the pastor, the Rev. Charles J. Richmond, that "in the early days of the church, you could tell the followers of Jesus by the way they loved one another." The subject of his message during the meditation period was "The Badge of Discipleship."

Group singing was led by WJHS assistant football coach Dick Roth. Linda Hollingsworth, a WSHS sophomore, was the accompanist.

After breakfast, Kevin Blair, a WSHS junior, spoke on "Sacrificing." He pointed out that the motto of the Blue Lion football team this year is "Sacrifice," but that the supreme sacrifice was Christ's death on the cross.

Blazing freight derailment battled near Arizona village

KINGMAN, Ariz. (AP) — Flames engulfed most of a Santa Fe freight train early today when 19 rail cars jumped the tracks near the village of Hackberry near here, officials said.

Six firemen were hospitalized and may have inhaled toxic fumes but were not burned, a Fire Department spokesman said. He described the fire as "contained but not controlled."

"We don't know what started it. Santa Fe says there weren't any tank cars on the train," said fireman H. B.

Marshall. "But something spilled down the tracks and caught all those cars on fire."

He said firemen, hampered by a shortage of water, were trying to work from both ends of the blaze toward the middle.

"We just can't get any water way out there," he said. "We have an 8,200-gallon water tanker, five trucks and a rescue unit there, but we're really short of water."

Authorities said the westbound train, enroute from Chicago to San Francisco, derailed on a bridge a few hundred yards from Hackberry, a village of a few hundred persons along U.S. 66 about 100 miles southwest of the Grand Canyon. Hackberry is 15 miles east of here.

"It was just a big, splashy fire and fortunately no one was injured," said Bill Murie of the Arizona Department of Public Safety. "We don't know what started it yet, but it was a gasoline fire. We don't know if it came from a tanker, box car, cans or what."

In Winslow, Santa Fe's main Arizona headquarters 175 miles east of Kingman, a spokesman confirmed that 19 cars had derailed and said, "to the best of my knowledge no tank cars were on that train."

He also said Santa Fe crews managed to salvage the four rear cars by separating them from the flaming wreckage. He said the two main east-west rail lines were closed indefinitely.

On July 5, 12 persons were killed and more than 80 others were injured in Kingman when a flaming propane rail car blew apart as firemen battled the blaze. Several victims were firemen.

Welfare Finance Corp. to appeal suspension

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — The Welfare Finance Corp. will appeal an order from the Ohio Commerce Department Division of Securities stopping the firm from selling stock.

Hamilton County Common Pleas Judge Robert Black Monday dissolved the order and set a hearing for Thursday morning.

The state accused the firm of improperly offering securities for sale without amending their state application.

other holdings.

Published reports have linked the out-of-court settlement to ITT's pledge to contribute as much as $200,000 to the 1972 GOP convention. The reports were denied by ITT and the Justice Department.

The White House called the Times story "distorted and unfair" and accused the staff of fired Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox of "an inexcusable breach of confidence."

"This information comes from a highly confidential conversation between Archibald Cox and former Atty. Gen. Kleindienst and from documents furnished voluntarily and also furnished in absolute confidence by the White House to Mr. Cox," the White House said. "The information furnished by the White House and Mr. Kleindienst put the matter into fair and accurate perspective."

The Times quoted sources close to the case as saying that after Kleindienst's conversation with Ehrlichman, Nixon called Kleindienst and, after calling him a "vulgar name," said, "Don't you understand the English language?" and ordered the appeal stopped.

"The President's direction to Mr. Kleindienst was based on his belief that the Canteen case represented a policy of the Justice Department with which he strongly disagreed, namely that bigness per se was unlawful," the White House statement said.

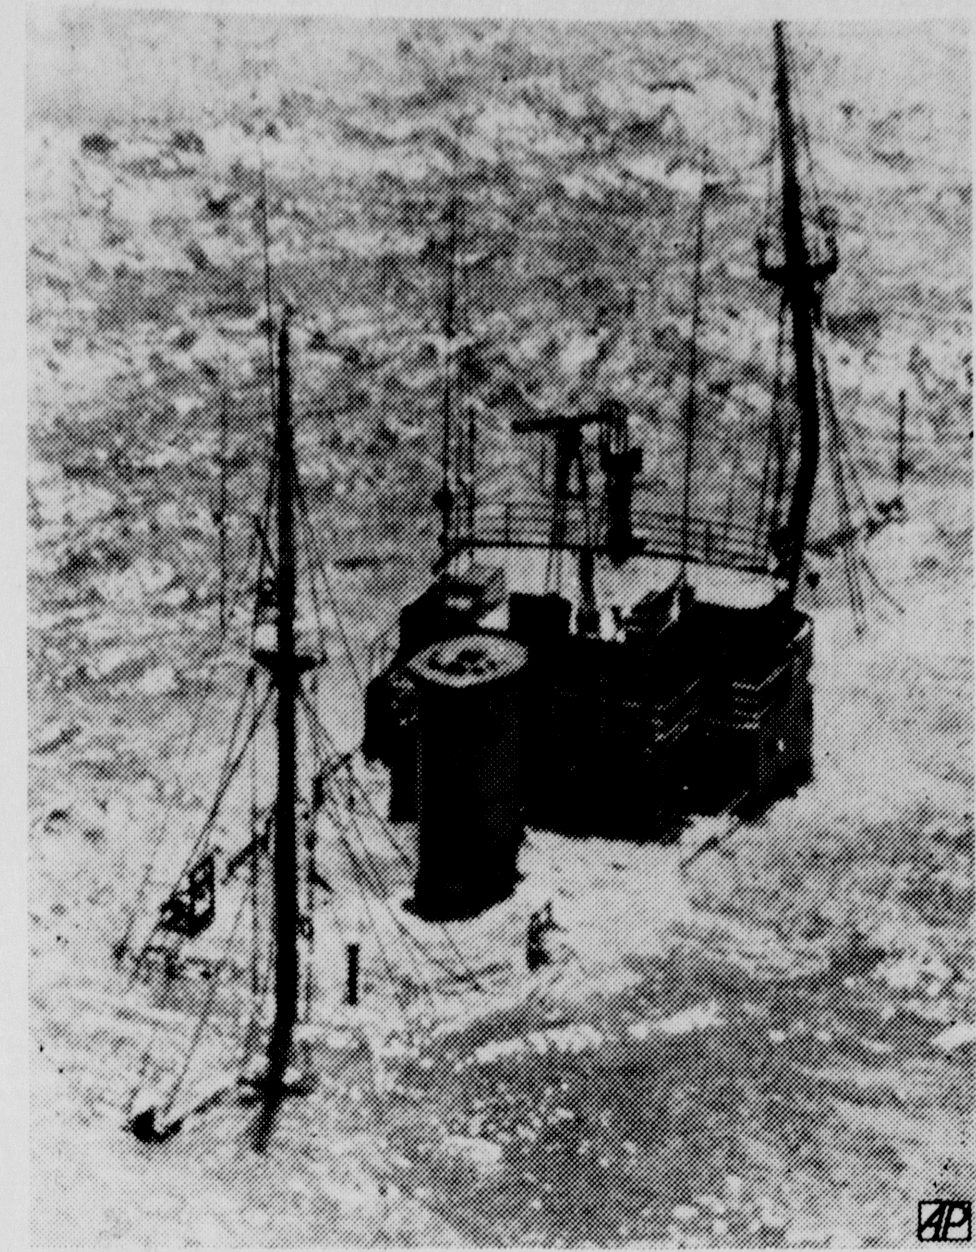

"When the specific facts of the appeal were subsequently explained in greater detail, the President withdrew his objection and the appeal was prosecuted in exactly the form originally proposed."

Arraign war hero on dope charge

PETALUMA, Calif. (AP) — A Vietnam war hero who won the nation's highest medal has been arraigned on four counts of selling cocaine.

Richard A. Penry, 24, described by authorities as a major cocaine dealer, appeared Monday before Municipal Court Judge Alexander McMahon who scheduled another hearing Nov. 5 for Penry and co-defendant David B. Lane.

Penry, a former Army sergeant, was awarded the Medal of Honor on July 15, 1971, for "conspicuous gallantry" in saving the life of his wounded company commander and almost single-handedly stopping an enemy attack in Binh Tuy Province.

Say Nixon halted ITT appeal plan

NEW YORK (AP) — Former U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard G. Kleindienst reportedly told Watergate prosecutors that President Nixon ordered him to halt an appeal of the government's antitrust cases against the International Telephone & Telegraph Corp., the New York Times said today.

Quoting sources, the Times said Kleindienst had told the Watergate prosecutors that Nixon called him after Kleindienst had turned down a request in 1971 from John D. Ehrlichman, then a White House adviser, to drop the appeal.

The appeal was held up and the government agreed to an out-of-court settlement that allowed ITT to retain the $1-billion Hartford Insurance Co. while giving up Canteen Corp. and

Collector's item

The American taste for gimmicky artifacts, the zanier the better, is well known. The average citizen's affluence makes it possible for him to indulge this taste to such an extent that manufacturers of items which hit the public fancy can cash in handsomely.

These meditations on a social phenomenon are prompted by the latest word about the Spiro Agnew watch. The Dirty Time Co. in Anaheim, Calif., launched this timepiece, featuring a caricature of the then vice president on its face, in 1970. People who liked Agnew bought it; people who didn't like Agnew bought it. The thing sold like - well, like hotcakes - and was widely imitated.

After the first surge of enthusiastic buying, sales of the watch

began to languish; in the last couple of years they were down to a trickle. The Agnew resignation was a shot in the arm. Dr. Hale Dougherty, a physician who founded Dirty Time, reports a renaissance. It seems that now the Spiro watch has become a collector's item of sorts.

As the fellow said, people are funnier than anybody.

Kissinger in whirlwind

WASHINGTON — As mysterious as the wildest whodunit ever written are the contradictory events of the past week. They have been as baffling in some respects for Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger as for the average citizen sitting on the sidelines and wondering what in thunder is going on.

At his press conference Kissinger did not disclose the reaction he and his associates had in Moscow where they went at the invitation of Party Secretary Leonid Brezhnev. They were impressed by the great value that Brezhnev and the men around him put on détente with the United States. In the six hours of discussion it was the centerpiece of Kremlin decision-making.

In rapid order agreement was reached on a joint U.S.-U.S.S.R. ceasefire resolution to be put before the United Nations Security Council. Nothing was said about any Soviet-American force to police the ceasefire. The understanding was that the policing would be done by a U.N. observer force.

THIS WAS the word Kissinger took to Israeli Prime Minister Golda Meir when he flew from Moscow to Tel Aviv. It was a most-welcome word in light of Israel's heavy casualties and severe losses of planes and armor.

Then without any warning the roof fell in. It was the lot of Kissinger's friend and collaborator, Soviet Ambassador Anatoly Dobrynin, to bring him a note stating the Kremlin's intention to send in Soviet forces unilaterally even though the United States declined to participate. The Kremlin knew very well Washington would have none of a joint force in the explosive Middle East.

The specter that arose immediately was of a split in the Soviet hierarchy between a Brezhnev-detente faction and the hard-line militarists. Not even the Kremlinologists who seize on every straw out of Moscow can say with complete assurance that this is the fact. But even after the capitulation by Jacob Malik in the Security Council the mystery remains.

WHETHER President Nixon overreacted in calling the 3 a.m. alert is also a mystery. The alert of the Strategic Air Command, the calling up of National Guard units, the clatter of guns and tanks across the world as American units in West Germany were ordered moved to the East German border came as the Nixon credibility gap had become an abyss rivaling the Grand Canyon.

The switch on the White House tapes, the firing of Archibald Cox, the resignation of the top men at Justice — all this had stirred an upsurge of opinion from around the country such as had rarely been seen even in the crunch of the Vietnam war and the attack on Cambodia.

Was the alert merely a diversionary tactic to draw attention away from the President's domestic trials? This was the abrasive question put to Kissinger at his press conference. He replied in the course of an impressive performance that there must be some degree of trust in the officials who are trying to conduct foreign policy.

In the bar rooms of the Old West, legend has it, was a sign that read: "Don't shoot the piano player, he's doing the best he can." That should be transposed and hung up in the Secretary of State's office.

NO SOONER was the sensational news of the alert spread across the headlines than Sen. Henry M. (Scoop) Jackson came out shooting with both guns. Professing to know exactly what was in the note delivered by Dobrynin, he took aim at Kissinger and if he missed at least he raised the political dust on either side of the beleaguered secretary.

Thomas Gleason, head of the International Maritime Union, said he would order his men to cease loading and unloading shipments to and from the Soviet Union if within a deadline he fixed the flow of war material from the Soviet Union to the Arab combatants did not cease.

The House of Representatives put on the shelf a trade bill that was certain to carry an amendment denying tariff concessions and export-import credits to the Soviet Union.

All were busy little helpers making Kissinger's task in seeking to avoid a confrontation with the Soviets even more difficult than it was bound to be in any event.

In an interview he gave to an Italian woman journalist, which he later regretted, Kissinger described himself as riding alone into a Western town to face friend or foe. He is a lonely rider and an intrepid rider.

I instantly like any woman who says she dislikes men who wear ties because she thinks they make them look silly. If all men disliked all women who sometimes wear things that make them look silly, the United States would be a nation of misogynists.

Thanks to modern advertising, it is counted a greater sin in America to have bad breath than bad manners. It is far easier to write to the White House and get a reply — try it and see — than it is to get an answer from a guy you've written asking him to pay up on a five-year-old $10 debt.

We the Tri-Township Farm Bureau Council commend the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce for their stand on State Issue I.

Without strong support of this issue Ohio farmers will be forced to assume higher and unreasonable land taxes. Our council joins with the Chamber of Commerce in support of State Issue I.

EDITOR, RECORD-HERALD:

Fayette County is one of the leading agricultural counties in the state, yet, did you ever stop to consider how we rank in educational opportunities with other counties in the state of comparable size, population and per capita income?

If only 50 per cent of the concern, energy, enthusiasm, and funds used for farming in this county were put forth for education, there would be advances made in leaps and bounds never before seen in this county.

Granted, without farming we would definitely be in trouble. But, without the adequate educational facilities to prepare the children of Fayette County for life in this rapidly changing, fast-paced world, the future is in deeper, more serious trouble.

Children are the most important natural resource we have. So vote yes — and give the youth of Fayette County the opportunity they deserve and need.

Dear Abby:

ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

Door swings both ways for parents, their kids

DEAR ABBY: You recently published the following:

DEAR ABBY: Our brother is 21. He just graduated from college, and has a job that pays him $100 a week. Brother wants to live at home with our parents. They think it will teach Brother a sense of responsibility if he pays them $75 a month for his room and board.

Since Brother is the oldest of six children, what goes for him will probably go for the rest of us.

We don't think children should have to pay to live with someone they love.

Our whole family would like to know how you feel about this.

THE OTHER KIDS

DEAR KIDS: How long should an able-bodied, gainfully employed 21-year-old expect to live with Mama and Papa for free? Six months? A year? Forever? Circumstances and opinions differ in all families, however, reasonable people should be able to agree to terms that will satisfy both the lover and the lovees.

Abby, let's put it this way:

DEAR ABBY: We are the parents of a 21-year-old son who just graduated from college. Now that he has a nice apartment and is making a good salary, we would like to sell our house and move in with him.

He thinks we should pay $75 a month for room and board. We don't think parents should have to pay to live with someone they love. What do you think, Abby? Sign this . . .

"THE PARENTS"

DEAR PARENTS: That door swings both ways. Parents who are able to support themselves shouldn't freeload on their kids.

DEAR ABBY: Who wouldn't live at home for $75 a month if Mom and Dad are dummies enough to offer it? The kid (correction-at, 21, he's a man, is getting a real bargain.

The real question is: "Do Mom and Dad love him enough to push him out of the nest now that he is self-supporting?" And does he love them enough to take care of himself and ease their burden with the other five? Whether they can afford it or not, they are doing him a disservice to let him stay.

The other kids should know that loving isn't necessarily giving. It is strong stuff when you love enough to say, "GO!"

PUZZLED IN DENVER

DEAR ABBY: I am writing about that girl who found out when she was 16 that her parents had been married six months before she was born. She said they were the greatest, and she didn't hold anything against them.

I am 14, and I want that girl to know that I was born four days AFTER my parents were married, and I've known about it for three years because my mother told me, and I respect her even more for being honest.

You should never look down on a person because she made a mistake. A friend of mine was born illegitimate and she knew it, but she never held it against her mother until her mother denied it.

Lying is stupid. The truth always has a way of coming out.

Russian wheat poses problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — The 1973 world wheat crop apparently will be much larger than was expected two months ago because of a big gain in Russian harvest prospects, the Agriculture Department says.

Although a larger wheat supply is good news to needy countries that depend on food grain imports, the situation is causing concern to U.S. growers who have been anticipating high prices over the next six or eight months.

The department said Monday in a special report that the Soviet Union has produced a record crop of 100 million metric tons this year, about 3.7 billion bushels.

Officials said further that the estimate soon may be revised again to around 110 million tons. If so, that will mean extra grain in the world market.

If the 110 million tons proves to be an accurate estimate, the big Soviet crop will assure the world of a slight surplus — without dipping into diminishing reserves — until next summer when another harvest is ready.

The Foreign Agricultural Service said the 1973-74 use of wheat is expected to be about 360 million tons. The total world output this season is estimated at about 355 million. But if the Russian crop is revised upward 10 million tons, the world production will exceed demand by about five million tons.

American farmers produced a record crop this year of 47 million metric tons or 1.73 billion bushels — less than half of the Russian crop.

Nearly three-fourths of U.S. wheat production, however, is available for export, while the Soviets are thought to need nearly all their harvest to rebuild some supplies.

But according to trade sources, the Soviet wheat crop is raising concern that Russia, after being a record importer in 1972-73, may be in a position to begin selling some wheat next year on the world market.

Democrats support farmland amendment

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A proposed constitutional amendment to tax farmland on its use, not its potential, has won official support from Ohio Democrats.

State chairman William A. Lavelle said Monday issue No. 1 on the November 6 ballot received endorsement from the state Democratic organization following a poll of county chairmen, Democratic legislators and members of the state executive committee.

New IHC parts, service center to open Nov. 1

International Harvester Co. announces that its new parts and service facilities on Robinson Road are almost ready for opening.

Thursday, Nov. 1, has been set for the grand opening of an eight-bay shop and a parts department with a beginning inventory of approximately $30,000.

Parts & Service Center, the name of the new firm, will employ seven Fayette County people in the beginning, with more to be added later.

Charlie Pitts, a former Washington C.H. resident, will operate the local store along with another in London. Experienced people in this type of business will head the respective departments. A parts man, bookkeeper and four mechanics will start scheduling work at 632 Robinson Rd. Nov. 1. Parts will be for sale starting that day.

The location was chosen because of its accessibility to customers throughout the county and adjoining areas. With the widening of Robinson Road and the opening of new U.S. 35 by-pass most customers from the rural areas can drive to the new store with ease. A 6000 square foot floor area and one acre lot with high fence will provide an adequate service area and security for customers' vehicles on the premises.

Pitts, along with a local man will be in communication with the London operation which has $70,000 worth of parts to draw from, along with an eight man service department.

Liberals win big in Quebec vote

MONTREAL (AP) — Quebec province's Liberal government won a landslide election victory Monday that Premier Robert Bourassa said constituted a clear rebuff to the French Canadian separatist movement.

"A great triumph for federalism over separatism," said Prime Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, the Liberal party's national leader and a native of Quebec.

When counting stopped for the night, the Liberals had won 99 of the 110 seats in the provincial assembly and were leading in two others.

The separatist Parti Quebecois had won six, a loss of one; the Social Creditists had two and had lost 10, and the once powerful Union Nationale, the official opposition party in the last assembly, was wiped out. One more seat was in doubt.

The popular vote was not nearly so lopsided. Though the Liberals had 54 per cent, a gain of nine per cent over the 1970 results, the Parti Quebecois had 30 per cent, or a gain of seven per cent. It replaced the Union Nationale as the official opposition party.

The Canadian Press tabulation of the popular vote from 17,964 of the 18,957 election districts was Liberals 1,513,897, Parti Quebecois 836,752, Social Creditiste 288,050, Union Nationale 147,140, others 6,656.

"I think the election is a defeat of the separatist option despite the increase in the PQ's popular vote," said Bourassa.

Ecologist - Mary Bunch.

Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mrs. Larry Burchett, Mrs. Thomas Bunch, and Paul Edgington took part in the program.

Frank Sanderson, president of the local board of Camp Fire Girls, installed the new officers of the Indian Chief Bluebirds. They are: President - Karla Terry; vice president - Katie Moore; secretary - Anne Tye; treasurer - Nikki Brown; and News Reporter - Mary Bunch.

After the Ceremonial, refreshments were served by Mrs. Charles Tye, Mrs. Leroy Davis, and Mrs. Warren Craig.

Parents and friends attending the tea were: Mrs. David Shepler and Jody, Mrs. Edith Schloegel, Dr. and Mrs. Leroy Davis and Susan, Mr. and Mrs. John Forsha Jr. and family, Rhonda Forsha, Mr. Sanderson, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Brown, Teresa Butcher, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Edgington and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bunch and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Malone, Mrs. Gene Wissinger, Mrs. Larry Burchett, Mr. and Mrs. Fulton Terry and family, Mrs. Warren Craig and Mrs. Charles Tye.

The Indian Chief Bluebirds met on Saturday to join in the annual Halloween Parade. Although the group won no prizes, a good time was had by all. Following the parade, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Anderson met the girls and drove them to the Haunted House of East Court Street where they were the guests of Ann Tye.

PERSONALS

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Kelley attended the 44th annual meeting, luncheon and program of The Ohioana Library Association held Saturday at the Capital University Learning Center, in Columbus. Many outstanding authors and composers and other notable persons were honored with citations, including Col. John H. Glenn, "The Nation's First Man-in-Orbit", native of Cambridge, to whom was awarded the Ohioana Career Medal for 1973. Col. Glenn, in addition to his flight to the moon, also during the last world war flew 59 missions, and was 18 times cited for bravery. His speech was rated one of the best of several given at the meeting by famous persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Armstrong and daughter Molly, 121 W. Temple St., were at Miami University, Oxford, Saturday for "Parents Day" and a visit with their son, Mark, who is a sophomore. En route home they attended 'open house' and the 10th anniversary party for Mr. and Mrs. James Anders in Sabina.

Mrs. Paul Gerhardt, 92 Hawthorn Dr., has returned home from Media, Pa., where she spent the summer with her daughter and family, Mrs. Warren E. Denen.

Mrs. Stella Bottenfield, 132 N. Oakland Ave., spent the weekend in Frankfort visiting her daughter, Mrs. Lyle Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Fultz, 2060 St. Rt. 35-NW, visited their son and daughter-in-law and family near Chillicothe last Sunday.

Mrs. George Sollars, 834 Washington Ave., spent several days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Neil Sollars in Columbus, and friends in Mooreville, Ind.

Mrs. Willard Judy, 1029 Dayton Ave., has returned home from Nashville, Tenn., where she spent the weekend. She accompanied a group from Wilmington to the Grand Ole Opry.

Mrs. Flint honored at surprise party

Mrs. Vesper Flint, 678 Robinson Rd., was pleasantly surprised Saturday afternoon by her children and grandchildren. Taken to the home of a son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hicks, 1115 S. Main St., on the pretense of "going out to eat," other members of the family had gathered at the home, and upon her arrival everyone shouted "Happy Birthday!"

Others present for the party were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Monroe and sons, Troy and Rickey, and Mr. and Mrs. Blanchard Hicks and Roger, Earlmo, Keith and Robin Lynn, and Barbara and Lisa Minnich of Mount Sterling.

Prizes won by many at Halloween party

Members of the Jud-I-Ques Square Dance Club held a Halloween party in Eastside School Saturday evening, and a dance followed. All came in costumes. Prizes were given for the prettiest to Mrs. Donald Knapp; the ugliest to Mrs. Ed Knisley; and for the most unusual, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Reeves.

Mr. and Mrs. Chet Howell were co-chairmen for the event; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cotner were in charge of the games and contests; and Jim Lambert was caller for the dancing.

A wiener roast followed the dance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Knisley. Guests for the evening were Mr. and Mrs. Charles McConkey, Mr. and Mrs. Ike Robins, Mr. and Mrs. Steve Summers, Floyd Cotner, Sean and Sheila Core and Mark and Jan Frazier. ## TV Viewing

AP Television Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Change 325 on the Watergate show: The Public Broadcasting Service now says it may broadcast unabridged reruns of some of the coming Senate Watergate Committee hearings.

A PBS spokesman, who last week said there'd be no gavel-to-gavel reports of future hearings on Public TV, says that position has been changed by the stormy public reaction to President Nixon's firing of special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox.

"I think the whole public reaction simply indicates that if we can possibly do it, we are obligated to provide the coverage," he said.

He emphasized that in no way will all evening videotape reruns of future Watergate hearings be gavel-to-gavel. It will depend on the importance of each witness, he explained.

As an example, he said, PBS undoubtedly would rebroadcast the full testimony of Cox—fired Oct. 20 by Nixon—were Cox to be called on to appear before the Senate Watergate Committee.

"We haven't made any decisions yet," he said, referring to such coverage. "However, we're gearing up and ... getting ready to go gavel-to-gavel if we feel it's warranted."

He added that PBS' plans for evening broadcasts of each day's hearings—

and the length of such broadcasts—won't really be settled until PBS officials can study the scheduled appearances of future Watergate committee witnesses.

The PBS spokesman said the initial decision against gavel-to-gavel reruns of the coming hearings was made earlier this month after PBS polled its stations about future Watergate evening broadcasts.

At that time, he said, many public TV stations felt the hearings had "ground down to the point of dullness" and most of them said they no longer wanted the gavel-to-gavel repeats PBS has run in the past.

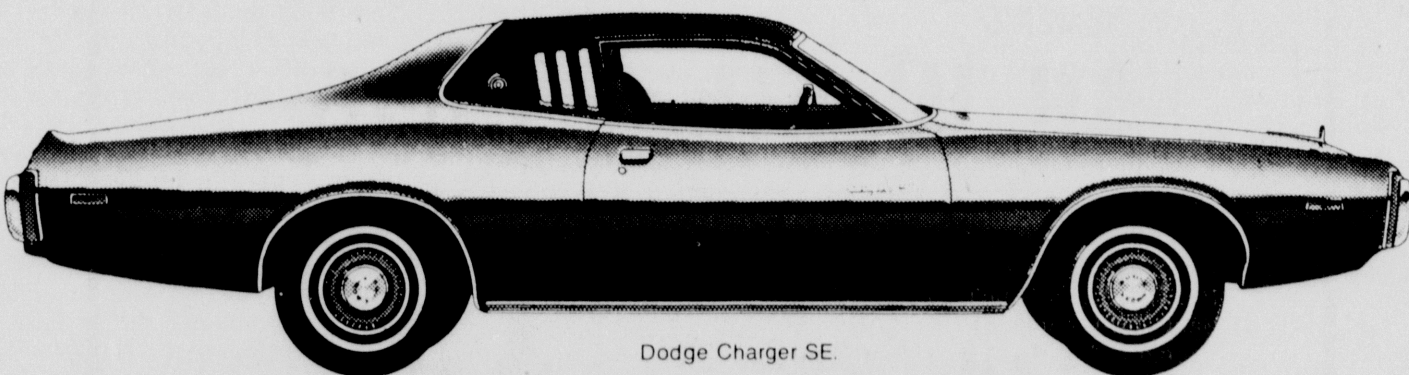

He said they also didn't want the occasional three-hour abridged versions of the hearings, but that they did want PBS to stay "flexible" in its coverage plans.

PBS had planned to ask the stations again late last week what Watergate hearing coverage they wanted rebroadcast at night. But it instead decided to stick with the stations' previous orders to use its own judgement, the spokesman said.

Referring to future gavel-to-gavel repeats PBS may run at night, he said, "we're going to wait and see who the committee's witnesses are and then we're going to simply tell the stations that we're going to feed it."

County school head reviews need for bond issue passage

BY GUY M. FOSTER
Superintendent.

Fayette County Schools

The citizens of the Miami Trace School District will be voting this fall on an important school bond issue.

If passed, steps will be taken to construct a new junior high school for all seventh and eighth grade students of the district. Additional funds would be available for renovation of the existing elementary buildings.

An extensive study was conducted by a citizens advisory group in the spring of 1973. The group toured all the elementary buildings and held follow-up meetings with school personnel. The findings of the committee suggested that (1) there is not adequate junior high education for students due to lack of building space and equipment (2) the elementary schools are generally overcrowded and in need of repair and (3) state minimum standards are not being met.

THE FINDINGS of the committee were reviewed with the Board of Education, and there was general agreement that the upper elementary students deserved greater opportunities for learning.

Introductions to vocational subjects such as industrial arts and home economics, expanded library facilities, extended physical education and intramural programs, specialized language, math, art, science and music classes as well as personalized counseling services are a few examples of needed expansion. With additional equipment and adequate space for subjects areas, more effective methods of teaching could be employed.

Realizing the various needs of the junior high age group, a review of the physical condition of the buildings has made to determine the feasibility of adding to present buildings. The buildings in general are old and at a state where additions of any dimensions are undesirable. At the present time all rooms are being used and some classrooms are overcrowded. Several undesirable spaces are being used for classrooms.

The other major discouraging factor toward adding special areas such as industrial arts to all six junior high buildings centered around the cost of duplicating equipment, and then having rooms that would only be utilized a short time during the day.

TAKING THESE findings into account, the committee and board agreed that the best direction to take pointed toward a new building for all seventh and eighth grade students of the district. In this manner a broader offering with improved teaching methodology could be attained at a reasonable cost. With the approximate 650 students coming out of present buildings, additional space would be available for improvements for the kindergarten through sixth grade.

Action then followed to place the school bond issue on the November ballot.

The total cost figure for the bond issue is $2,036,000. It is expected that in general figures, one quarter of a million dollars will be used for renovating present buildings and one and three quarter millions will be used for the new building. Bonds will be sold to be retired over a 22-year period. The average millage rate based on present property valuation would amount to an average of 2.15 mills, beginning at 2.64 and tapering off to a rate of 1.67. For a family owning a house and lot that would sell for $20,000, the additional tax would amount to near $17 per year.

THE INCREASED millage rate for schools in the district would still be considerably below state average and that of surrounding districts. In 1972, the total tax rate for schools in the Miami Trace District was 21.95 mills while the average in the state was 33.69.

Although the school board is concerned about the tax load on property owners, this is their only avenue for raising money for a large school project. Along with this thinking, a point could be made that the state income tax has allowed for major boosts in support of schools.

Also the property owner has realized a 10 per cent rollback on real estate. In the area of agriculture, the personal property tax has been phased out. The Homestead Exemption Act has relieved several of those on retirement.

Operating costs for schools will continue to climb. Unless additional monies were received from state sources, local tax rates must be raised unless property valuations increase considerably.

Keeping the old buildings open and adding a new one will increase costs. However, some areas such as transportation would not be increased greatly.

IT IS EXPECTED that the present fleet of buses could transport the seventh and eighth grades on the present high school routes. The student would be coming toward the center of the district and the building would be located only about one mile south of the high school on Ohio 41.

The board presently has an option to purchase the land if they so desire before Nov. 15. Any expenditure for a school site will be determined by the passage of the issue. At this time the land has not been purchased, neither has the architect obligated the school district.

Phil Grover and Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Vanzant are chairing the Miami Trace Junior High and School Improvement Bond Issue Committee. An effort is being made to inform the citizenry of the needs of the school district and how this proposal could improve the program for the upper elementary grades.

Questions are being directed to many workers, the committee and school board members and administration. Efforts are being directed to the call of junior high school student who calls out — "Help! My Mind Needs You!"

Gilligan backs party endorsements

By ROBERT E. MILLER
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. John J. Gilligan says he thinks the best argument for political parties endorsing candidates in primary elections is "the name game that has been played in Ohio politics."

"The voters are confused by all the Tafts, Browns, and O'Neills," he said. "I think it is important for the parties to endorse, and that any party worth its salt will take a public position."

Gilligan's reference was to the entry into politics of candidates with the same name as others who have gone ahead of them and found success among the electorate.

It has happened rather frequently, and more often than not, without the newcomer being related to the forerunner with whom he may hope to be confused.

One of the latest to come forward is William M. O'Neill, 26-year-old Vietnam veteran who recently announced his first political venture — a quest for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant governor.

O'Neill is a Chagrin Falls native, and makes no bones about the possibility he could be linked by voters with Chief Justice C. William O'Neill of the Ohio Supreme Court, or the chief justice's son, whose name also is William and who serves in the Ohio House. The chief justice is a former GOP governor.

Ambitious tourist plan set for Ohio

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Gilligan administration has announced plans to more than double the number of tourist information centers in the state, after attendance at Ohio tourist attractions jumped nearly 30 per cent this year.

Dr. David C. Sweet, director of economic and community development, attributed the attendance to state-level promotion tools like the three existing information centers and the toll-free "InfoOhio" line.

He said the state will build seven more tourist information centers at key points of entry to Ohio.

Snap up a bargain.

DP&L

The Service People

Dayton, a Montgomery County commissioner, showed up at the Statehouse with literature plugging Cloud as a candidate for state office with the office not yet selected. Cloud is no relation to Roger Cloud, the former state auditor, five-term speaker of the House, and unsuccessful candidate for governor against Gilligan in 1970. The literature handed out on behalf of the Dayton Cloud called him "a natural candidate for state office."

There is, of course, virtually no end to the Tafts and Browns—both of whom practically dominated Republicanism in Ohio for years until 1970 when an unknown William J. Brown came out of Lisbon, Ohio, as a Democrat and got himself elected attorney general.

The Democratic Party has named a candidates committee which is expected to recommend endorsements to the party's state executive committee about Jan. 1 — well ahead of the Feb. 6 filing deadline.

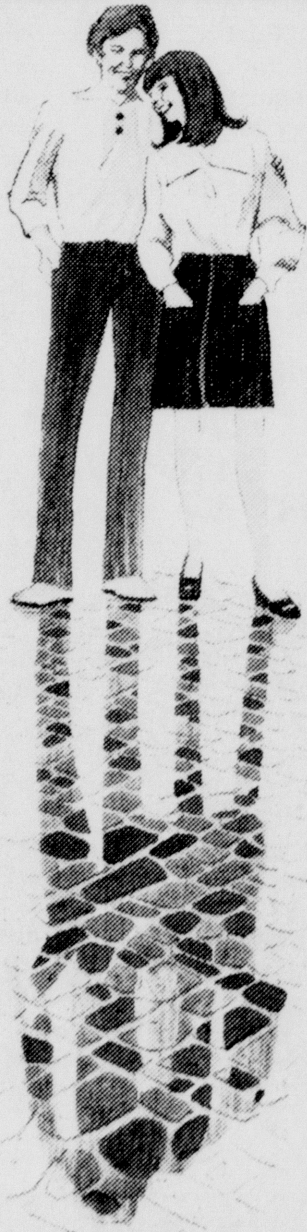

Republicans have a similar group which has been interviewing prospective candidates, but leaders have not said there will be firm endorsements for the primary.

Need for health levy explained at meeting

The Fayette County Health Department's additional tax levy, which will be appearing on the November ballot, was explained at a meeting of the Fayette County Health Levy Committee Monday at the Health Department offices.

Edward Vollette, chairman of the health levy committee, pointed out that there has been no additional health tax levy presented to the voters of Fayette County since the original levy was approved in 1956.

The 20-mill levy, which will be before all Fayette County voters at the polls next Tuesday, is to insure continued health protection for Fayette Countians, such as nursing supervision for expectant mothers, infants, preschool and school age children, crippled children, chronic diseases and mental health; a resource center for the school health program including vision, hearing, tuberculosis screening, health appraisals and health education plus safety and maintenance concerns; emphasis on disease prevention including immunizations, venereal disease and other communicable disease control; tuberculosis control; home nursing care, family planning, continuation of the sanitation program of milk and restaurant inspections, nuisances, sewage disposal, landfill inspections, safe water supplies and animal bites; recording information concerning birth and death registrations.

DR. WILLIAM E. COVERT, health commissioner, said that the additional health levy amounts to two cents for each $100 of valuation or 20 cents for each $1,000 of valuation for a five-year period.

Dr. Covert urged that if any questions should arise concerning the health levy, persons should call the Health Department (335-5910).

Vollette assigned each committee member certain phases of the campaign. Members of the committee besides the members of the Fayette County Health Department are the Rev. Gerald Wheat, Fred St. Clair, Mrs. Wayne Hidy, Mrs. Robert Goodson, James Dunn, Robert Bishop, Mrs. Robert Pero, Richard Patton, Mrs. Paul Cox, Marion Stockwell, Mr. James Smith, Mrs. Raymond Hendricks, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Hoppes and Jess Schlichter.

Vollette said that the ever increasing cost of present services make it necessary to ask for a 2-mill health levy with 100 per cent of the money being used for county health services. The new levy would double the present millage for health purposes.

Police hunt missing girl

The disappearance of a Washington C.H. girl, missing for no apparent reason since Saturday at 5:30 p.m., has been reported to police.

Donna Lynn Hurler, 18, of 629 E. Paint St. was last seen wearing Levi jeans, a blue and white striped shirt, a red jacket and blue tennis shoes.

She is 5 feet, 4 inches in height, weighs 160 pounds, has light brown hair, blue eyes and a fair complexion.

Also reported to police was another stolen bike incident and a broken window.

A boy's 10-speed bicycle was taken from the rear patio of the Betty Burke home, 620 Rose Ave., between 7:45 p.m. and 7:45 p.m., Monday.

Police recovered the bike at Rose Avenue School, but the thief damaged it by knocking out some spokes.

A thrown rock broke a window Monday at the Virginia Gano residence, 1155 Gregg St. The incident occurred around noon.

The Sheriff's Department reported only one offense Monday, discovered by Millard Howard, Bloomingburg, at 9:30 a.m.

Someone bent the nameplate on his mailbox and knocked his newspaper holder off its post.

Club raising funds

The Fayette County Junior Leadership Club will start selling stationery this week to raise money to send representatives to the Citizenship Short Course in Washington, D.C., next summer.

at night . . . Both expressed the hope that adults will accompany the groups of children to keep them on the sidewalks . . . But as an added precaution, they will have cruisers on the streets and roads to keep drivers aware of the problems . . .

Beggars' Night will be observed in the villages and rural area of the county at the same time, from 6 to 8 p.m. . . .

Then will come Halloween the next day . . . Although the celebration nowadays is not quite so boisterous or rambunctious as it once was, law enforcement officers plan to keep a close watch for vandalism . . . Both the sheriff and police will have the help of their auxiliaries on patrol in unmarked cars . . .

A READER takes us to task for one of our typographical errors — those gremlins that creep into news stories . . .

Apparently our correspondent thinks we don't remember two Jima, the Japanese island where the Marines covered themselves with glory in World War II . . . It was spelled "Iowa Jima" in a R-H wire story . . . We know better, but no one caught that extra "a" . . .

WE REGRET THAT the Rose Avenue Rosettes were missed in the R-H report of the Halloween parade, although the group was one of its features . . . The Rosettes, a drill team composed of 20 girls and three boys from the first through fifth grades of the Rose Avenue School, had practiced for two months for the part they had in the parade . . . They were all dressed up in white blouses, red scarves, bells on their shoes and had a red rose pinned to their shoulders . . . The highlight was a drill routine performed as the parade paused in front of the Courthouse . . .

What happens from now on is a bit cloudy . . . But, Mrs. Pat Smith, who directed the team, said the youngsters hope to perform at the halftime of at least one of the junior high school basketball games . . . Incidentally, Mrs. Smith is not a member of the faculty and volunteered her time to train the team . . .

Money Does Matter . . .

By J. W. Wallace

ASK YOURSELF JUST A FEW SIMPLE QUESTIONS:

Before you borrow money (most people have to, sometime) ask yourself: 1 - Am I sure that I will keep my job?; 2 - Will a time-payment obligation ruin my budget?; 3 - Will a time-payment contract make me unable to meet an emergency?

There are times when it is a good idea to borrow money — for mortgages, cars, furniture, personal expenses, etc.

Just remember this: It does make a difference where you borrow — don't let borrowing rule you — and borrow only for what you need!

CONGRATULATIONS TO: Art Schlichter on his past accomplishments in the Ford Motor Company 1973 Punt, Pass and Kick Contest. We certainly wish him the best of luck in the divisional competition.

Jasper carnival clears $1,200

MILLEDGEVILLE — The Halloween carnival Oct. 21 at the Jasper School here cleared $1,200.68, the treasurer, Joann Lovett reports.

The keystone to the success of the affair were the hams donated by Jerry Fitzpatrick, Roger Hiser, Mike Bobbitt, G. Pinney, R. Glass, Dean Mann and Frank Bowermaster.

Tickets were sold by students in the third and sixth grades and each of the top salesmen was awarded a cash prize. The overall winners were Garland Fitzpatrick, first, Amy Stockwell, second, and Kristin Herdman, third. The sixth grade winners were Kelly Lane, Tony Hendricks and Teressa Hill and the third grade winners were Kim Bowermaster, Terry Davis and Robbie Hanschell.

Parents responsible for the carnival were: Mrs. Larry Lane and Mrs. Sid Woodrow, general chairmen; Mrs. Joann Lovett and Mrs. Opal Hendricks, tickets; Mrs. Frances Herdman, kitchen; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bowermaster, games; Mrs. Robert Alkire, general store; and Mr. and Mrs. Mack Reynolds, Mrs. Larry Anderson and Mrs. John Grooms, cake walks.

Principal Robert Cosgray and the teachers assisted the committees.

Cathedral plan OK'd

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP)—The Cathedral of Tomorrow will repay security holders under a plan agreed to by the State of Ohio.

Lawyers for the state Monday agreed in court here to the repayment plan after language which the state termed an "indirect solicitation" was removed from a previous court order.

Common Pleas Judge Paul Riley agreed with the Ohio Commerce Department that the language in question was inconsistent with his previous order.

The state last January charged Rex Hubbard's nondenominational church, based near Akron, with selling unregistered securities.

Springfield youth slain

HARTWELL, Ga. (AP) — Hart County sheriff's deputies said Monday that first-degree murder charges have been filed against Stephen M. Trask, 18, of New Hampshire, in the stabbing death of Keith Allen Ashworth, 19, of Springfield, Ohio.

Ashworth's body was pulled from Lake Hartwell near here on Sept. 12. He was identified three weeks later through dental x-rays and a Marine Corps' tattoo.

Deputies said both men were allegedly absent without leave from the New River Marine Corps Air Station at Onslow, N.C. at the time of the slaying.

Deputies said witnesses reported seeing Trask and Ashworth fighting beside the lake. Ashworth being stabbed and his weighted body dumped into the lake.

Derailment starts fire in Kentucky

ASHLAND, Ky. (AP) — Six cars of a Chessie System 50-car freight train jumped the track near here today shortly after 6 a.m. and touched off a series of explosions and a raging fire, state police reported.

There apparently were no injuries but the occupants of one residence were evacuated, officials said.

Officers pin-pointed the location of the derailment as being at Norton Branch near Rush in Boyd County, about 10 to 15 miles south of Ashland.

Fire departments from Ashland, Westwood and Grayson were dispatched to the scene to battle the fire that broke out in the derailed cars.

Dick Lehman of the Ashland Fire Department said the blaze involved a minimum of six cars. "Some of them contained a kind of acrylic," he said. State troopers said the cars carried a caustic soda-sodium hydroxide.

The fires were brought under control about 2½ hours after the wreck and preparations were being made by mid-morning to remove the wreckage.

The cause of the derailment was not immediately determined. A radio dispatcher at the state police headquarters at Ashland said early reports that an automobile or truck might have been involved were untrue.

Lions continue bid for mythical title

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Warren Western Reserve, Washington Court House and Newark Catholic carry The Associated Press state poll leads into the final two weeks of the Ohio high school football season.

All command sizable edges over their opposition in the weekly balloting by a statewide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

Warren Western Reserve, ahead of No. 2 Cincinnati Moeller 272-222 in Class AAA, and Washington Court House, with 209 points to runnerup Minerva's 181 in Class AA, are bidding for their first mythical state crowns.

Newark Catholic, the Class A pacesetter with 188 points to 168 for runnerup Cory Rawson, is gunning for its second AP championship. The Green Wave won the 1968 crown.

Western Reserve, however, won the first Class AAA state football playoff title after finishing second behind Massillon in the 1972 poll.

Newark Catholic probably faces the toughest test this week, risking its 7-0 record against Class AA Heath, which has a 5-2-1 mark.

Western Reserve faces Cuyahoga Falls and Washington Court House plays Court House plays county rival Miami Trace.

Only one new face moved into the top tens. Lakewood St. Edward, unbeaten in eight games, tied Newark for the No. 9 spot in Class AAA.

Akron Garfield was third in Class AAA, followed by Massillon, Fremont Ross, Youngstown Mooney, Canton McKinley and Barberton, in that order.

In Class AA, Cincinnati Reading, Ironton, Dayton Jefferson and Lisbon Beaver kept the third through sixth spots. Cleveland Benedictine moved from ninth to seventh, Newark Licking Valley from tenth to eighth. Columbus Waterson fell from eighth to ninth and Akron St. Vincent-St. Mary from seventh to No. 10.

In Class A, Ada made the biggest move, going from fifth to third.

Marion Pleasant, the Class A leader most of this season and the winner of the last two state poll championships, was fourth again. Ada was fifth, Portsmouth Notre Dame sixth, Sugar Grove Berne Union seventh, Norwalk St. Paul eighth, East Canton ninth and Kirtland tenth.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here's how a state-wide panel of sports writers and broadcasters rates Ohio high school football teams this week for The Associated Press (10 points for first to 1 point for tenth).

San Diego may yet lose Padres

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The clock may be ready to strike midnight for San Diego's National League baseball franchise after the collapse of an 11th-hour purchase offer.

Mayor Pete Wilson said Monday the City Council had refused unanimously to approve terms of a new stadium lease sought by Marjorie L. Everett, leading stockholder in Hollywood Park Race Track.

"The interests of the baseball public had to be weighed against the interest of the taxpayers and the city could not go that far," said Wilson, one of the council's nine members.

He said two other groups have contacted him, one of local business interests and the other from out of town, and talked of trying to keep the Padres in San Diego.

Wilson didn't identify either group, but said, "obviously the same problem is going to exist for these groups as for Mrs. Everett."

Mrs. Everett's unexpected offer to buy part of the club and keep it in San Diego stalled a scheduled vote by National League club owners Oct. 5 on C. Arnholt Smith's proposal to sell the Padres to a Washington, D.C., group for $12 million.

The league gave the team 30 days to complete the deal.

Weaver named top AL pilot

NEW YORK (AP) — Patient Earl Weaver, who remodeled the Baltimore Orioles from a slow, slugging team into a fast, opportunistic club that recaptured the 1973 American League East Division pennant, was chosen today as AL Manager of the Year.

The stocky Weaver was a landslide winner in balloting conducted by The Associated Press before the playoffs and World Series. He earned 170 votes from sports writers and broadcasters in outpolling Jack McKeon of the Kansas City Royals, runnerup with 91 nominations.

Brown raps Steelers grid fans

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — Cincinnati Bengals Coach Paul Brown doesn't think Pittsburgh Steelers fans are "sporting" with opposing teams.

He was also aghast at the treatment of Steelers quarterback Terry Bradshaw during the Steelers' 20-13 victory in the rematch with Cincinnati. Cincinnati won here two weeks ago 19-7.

"They are noisy," said Brown of the Pittsburgh fans, and they don't "give other teams that play there a sporting chance."

"There's a very good reason for their long string of 12 victories at home," He said crowd noise swells when opposing teams have the ball, but quiets when Pittsburgh has it.

"It's impossible to check off or audible or even hear the cadence in that intense noise," he said. Cincinnati quarterback Kenny Anderson, at Brown's order, walked away from the line three successive times at one point because of the noise.

Brown also said the noise prevented Cincinnati linemen from hearing blocking audibles on a punt and Pittsburgh tackled kicker Dave Lewis on the three-yard line. They scored three plays later.

Harper's play aids Wittenberg

SPRINGFIELD — Lowell Harper, a Wittenberg University senior tight end from Washington Court House, continued his string of outstanding performances as the unbeaten and 7th ranked Tigers blasted Mount Union college 35-17 last Saturday to run their season record to 7-0.

Harper caught three crucial third and long yardage passes for 61 yards that set up three Wittenberg touchdowns in the game's early stages.

The big pass catcher and blocker now is the Tigers' second leading receiver with 10 catches for 209 yards and a 20.9 average per reception.

If Wittenberg wins its next two games, it will be Tigers' third unbeaten season on the field in the last five years.

Harper's offensive performances has helped power the Tigers to fourth place nationally in small college scoring with an average of 32 points a game. The Tigers' defense ranks fifth yielding seven points a game.

ponships, finished third with 41 votes. Del Crandall of the Milwaukee Brewers was fourth with 12 votes.

Then came Frank Quilici of the Minnesota Twins, Ralph Houk of the Yankees, Bobby Winkles of the California Angels, Chuck Tanner of the Chicago White Sox, and Billy Martin, who piloted both Detroit and Texas, with one vote each. Tanner was last year's winner.

This is the first Manager of the Year honor for Weaver, although he directed the Orioles to three straight pennants and over 100 victories each year beginning in 1969.

After that string, Baltimore slipped to third in the AL East in 1972, but

More reserved seats on hand for Friday

Officials at Miami Trace High School are preparing for a capacity crowd at Friday night's football game between Washington C.H. and Miami Trace.

Delmar Mowery athletic director at Miami Trace, said that a decision has been made to create more reserved seats in anticipation of a bulging at the seams crowd.

MOWERY said about 200 seats, previously sold as general admission, will be marked as reserved seats temporarily. The seats will be used as general admission after the Washington C.H.-Miami Trace game.

By offering the seats as reserved, the number of general admission seats is reduced, but school officials said this move would better accomodate the fans.

A pre-sale of reserved seats tickets for Friday night's game will be held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday at Miami Trace High School, according to ticket manager Glenn Marchal.

Marchal said that there will be a limit of four tickets per person at the pre-sale Wednesday. General ad-

O.J. took the ball and reached 1,000 yards.

Hayes sees rugged contest against hustling Illinois

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It will be like looking in a mirror for top-ranked Ohio State when it visits Illinois Saturday in a showdown of Big Ten football co-leaders.

"The guts of the Illinois offense is very similar to ours," said Buckeye assistant Coach Chuck Clausen, charged with scouting the Illini attack.

"They run their fullback inside and use their tailback inside and on bounced back for its fourth East title in five years this season.

The Orioles, after a slow start, didn't pull away from the field until putting together a 14-game winning streak in late August.

Their 97-65 record gave Weaver a remarkable 543-337 mark for a .617 percentage since he replaced Hank Bauer as manager July 11, 1968.

The 43-year-old Weaver is convinced the future might be just as good. "I said earlier this year that our farm system has produced enough outstanding players for this team to win six division championships in the next 10 years," he said. "I see no reason to change my mind now."

Bucks hold top spot in AP grid ratings

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

High-flying Ohio State remains in a holding pattern above the rest of America's college football teams—holding onto No. 1 in the weekly Associated Press poll.

The Buckeyes, 60-0 winners over Northwestern this past weekend, piled up 36 first-place votes and 1,148 total points Monday from a nationwide panel of sports writers and broadcasters.

It was the fifth straight week for Ohio State in the No. 1 position. The Buckeyes held a slim lead over Alabama, No. 2 with 1,052 points.

The Crimson Tide, which crushed Virginia Tech 77-6, collected 12 of the 62 first-place votes supplied this week.

The rest of the top four teams stayed firm with No. 3 Oklahoma pulling down nine first place votes and 961 points and No. 4 Michigan with one first-place ballot and 876 points.

Oklahoma walloped Kansas State 56-14 and Michigan routed Minnesota 34-7 over the weekend.

Notre Dame replaced Penn State as the No. 5 team after beating Southern California 23-14 and virtually ruining the Trojan's chances of repeating as national champion.

The Fighting Irish, seeking their first national title since 1966, moved up from No. 8 with 754 points. Undefeated Penn State dropped one place to No. 6 despite overwhelming West Virginia 62-14 for its seventh straight victory this year.

The Nittany Lions were favored for No. 1 by four voters.

Louisiana State also stayed unbeaten through seven with a 33-29 victory over South Carolina that boosted the Tigers from ninth to seventh. They had 518 points.

Arizona State made the Top Ten for the first time this year, moving from No. 11 to No. 8 by routing Oregon State 44-14. Southern Cal, No. 6 last week, dropped to No. 9 and just nosed out crosstown rival UCLA for that spot.

The Trojans had 331 points to 307 for No. 10 UCLA.

The remaining ranked teams this week include: No. 11 Tennessee; No. 12 Missouri; No. 13 Nebraska; No. 14 Tulane; No. 15 Texas Tech; No. 16 Miami (Ohio); No. 17 Colorado; No. 18 Houston and two teams tied for No. 19, Auburn and Texas.

The Top Twenty, with firstplace votes in parentheses, season records and total points. Points tabulated on basis of 20-18-16-14-12-10-9-8-7-6-5-4-3-2-1:

Archibald given fine for remark

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Nate Archibald, the superstar, the heart and soul of the Kansas City-Omaha Kings, had had enough.

But expressing his frustrations about his team's lastplace standing to sports writers — criticizing his teammates publicly — was too much for Coach Bob Cousy. He slapped Archibald with a fine of undisclosed amount.

"I'm not defending what Tiny said, but I think that he was frustrated from not having played and spoke without thinking of the situation," Cousy said.

The all-pro guard, out for three games with an injury to an Achilles tendon, played 20 minutes Sunday night in the Kings' 112-110 loss to the Buffalo Braves. His contribution to the losing cause was 10 points and six assists.

As any ship without a rudder, the Kings wandered in circles without Archibald. After seeing his teammates slip to a 4-5 record, Archibald complained. "I think that the team doesn't have any heart. If they aren't going to play basketball then they ought to go back to school."

What really irked Archibald concerned the 44-point performance of Buffalo's Bob McAdoo.

"When a guy scores (that many) points," he said, "half the team should have fouled out. I mean the man should be sore."

Erving and Issel leaders in scoring

NEW YORK (AP) — Julius Erving of the New York Nets and Dan Issel of the Kentucky Colonels retained their 1-2 spots in the American Basketball Association scoring race today but rookie Dwight Lamar of San Diego burst into the challenging third place.

Erving's average dipped a bit from last week's 33.6 to 30.3, but he still had enough to stay ahead of Issel, whose average of 28.1 was down slightly from the 31.0 of a week ago.

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Pass
1 ♠	2 ♣	5 ♣	Pass

Opening lead - four of hearts.

Let's assume you're in six clubs and West leads a heart. East's two club bid suggests a void in clubs and probably the king of spades as well. Given these circumstances, what is the best way to play the hand?

If you win the heart with the ace, discarding a diamond, and play the ace and another diamond, hoping to establish the suit, you run the risk that West will win the diamond and return a spade to put the kibosh on the slam. You could go up with the ace and proceed to establish the diamonds, but you would then be unable to cash them — due to the 3-0 trump division.

The problem is to bring the slam home despite the anticipated 3-0 trump break and the probable location of the king of spades — and this is a not inconsiderable challenge, even if you see all the hands.

The solution lies in detecting the problem before you play to trick one. Once you've spotted the entry difficulty, you can overcome it by covering the four of hearts with the five and discarding a diamond on East's king! As a result, West can never take the lead for the rest of the hand to fire a spade back at you.

Let's assume East returns a diamond, which is the best he can do. You win with the ace, play a trump to the ten, discard the nine of diamonds on the ace of hearts, ruff a diamond, play a trump to the jack, and ruff another diamond.

This establishes the suit and, after drawing South's remaining trump, you cross to the ace of spades and discard your spade loser on the ten of diamonds.

That's all there is to it!

Preparing a Child for Surgery

Our child is to be admitted to the hospital in a few months for corrective eye surgery.

We know of your interest in preparing children for the tonsil operation.

Do you have any suggestions about how we might prepare our child for this type of surgery?

Mr. and Mrs. W.L.H., Tenn.
Dear Mr. and Mrs. H.:

The preparation of children for any type of operation has its basis in the concept of telling the child the complete truth about what he can expect at the hospital.

Doctors and psychologists have learned that when a child is armed with the truth and with an explanation of the reason for the operation he can encompass the entire experience with remarkably little emotional aftermath.

Doctors and parents now combine in preparing a child so that there is no longer a feeling of abandonment or punishment that formerly was associated with anesthesia, the operation, the recovery period in the hospital.

An excellent and thoughtful approach to the problem of eye surgery in children was recently reported by Dr. Leonard Apt and his co-workers at the Jules Stein Eye Institute, UCLA School of Medicine in Los Angeles.

They outlined methods by which "separation anxiety" is minimized. Before children are admitted for surgery they are prepared to anticipate everything that may arise, including temporary bandaging of the eyes and other factors uniquely associated with eye surgery.

You will find it helpful to read to your child one of two story books which I have personally supervised the writing. Although the books were planned especially for children who are about to have a tonsillectomy, the material in them can be easily adapted for other types of surgery.

The books are titled "A Visit to the Hospital," by Francine Chase (Grosset & Dunlap), and a Pop-Up book, "Going to the Hospital," by Bettina Clark (Random House).

Special instructions to parents are included in the books. Your own doctor will undoubtedly amplify these instructions to meet the specific needs of your child. In this way, the psychological trauma of the operation will be minimized.

Twice in the last year I have had the painful complication of a dry socket after the extraction of teeth.

Will I always be prone to this painful condition?

Miss V.U., Neb.

Dear Miss U.:
It is probably a coincidence that you have had two such unpleasant complications after the extraction of a tooth.

A dry socket is considered an infection of the bone from which the tooth was removed.

Normally, a blood clot covers the site of the extraction, and carefully protects the bone as the healing process begins.

Antibiotics and pain killers are used to control "dry socket."

The chances are that this will never happen again. Congenital or familial tendencies could not account for your problem.

Bequest aids students

WILMINGTON — A total of 92 Wilmington College students will benefit from a $69,798 bequest from the estate of Wilson Harlan, according to Larry R. Thompson, director of financial aid and work study. About 35 Wilmington College students will receive financial aid from the bequest this year, Thompson reported.

Auto mishaps caused damage

The Sheriff's Department had only one accident to report Monday. It occurred at 5:45 p.m.

Mary E. Beal, 55, Sabina, slowed down on U.S. 35 in order to make a left turn into a private drive. Leo E. Kelley, 41, Fairborn, attempted to pass and collided with her car doing moderate damage.

The Police Department reported two of the four Monday accidents as being a direct result of weather conditions which produced wet, slippery streets.

A New Holland man, Dudley H. Roth, 77, was waiting for the light to change at the Columbus Avenue and Wilson Street intersection at 11:25 a.m., when his car was hit in the rear by another driven by Andrew Jackson Jr., 21, of 1143 Rawlings St., doing moderate damage to both autos.

Jackson had hit his brakes and gone into a skid. He was charged with not maintaining assured clear distance.

Another New Holland man, John R. Sommers, 35, became involved in an accident at 1:40 p.m., when Jay D. Gordon, 21, Rt. 1, skidded left of center while making a right turn onto Paint Street, off North Street.

The autos received moderate damage and Gordon was charged with driving left of center.

A more serious accident occurred at 2:07 p.m. when a car driven by Janice A. Summers, 22, Bloomingburg, entered Court Street from the Marathon service station parking lot and into the path of an oncoming car driven by Richard T. Tolle, 27, Greenfield.

Mrs. Summers, who was charged by police for failure to yield, claimed injury but did not receive hospital treatment.

Starting without safety was the charge and apparent cause of an accident at 5:31 p.m.

Loren E. Riley, 47, of 1370 Nelson Place, drove out of a parking space on E. Court Street and collided with Roger C. Ater, 18, of 501 Peddicord Ave. Slight damage was done to both autos. Riley was charged.

Camp David gets heavy Nixon use

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — President Nixon has become a virtual commuter between the White House and his mountain lodge here, making five trips in the past week.

Never before during his nearly five years in office has Nixon made so many journeys to Camp David, one of his favorite retreats, in such a short period.

The President braved a commuter's nightmare to get here Monday night, driving up in the evening rush hour that invariably clogs northbound highways.

Nixon's only companions on the 70-mile drive were two Secret Service agents.

Shortly after his arrival, the area was hit by high winds, hail and electrical storms.

There was no word on when Nixon would return to the White House and no explanation of why he came.

Deputy Press Secretary Gerald L. Warren said Nixon would be talking by telephone with Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger about Middle East developments and working at long distance with other aides on other unspecified matters.

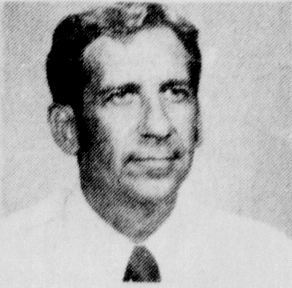

Meanwhile, Warren said he will explore the possibility of documenting the President's charges — made in last Friday's nationally televised news conference — that TV commentators have engaged in "outrageous, vicious, distorted reporting."

Warren made the remark at a news

ANOTHER OPPORTUNITY — A course of training in upholstery, draperies and automobile trim is being offered adults at the Laurel Oaks Career Development Campus near Wilmington. Enrollment is now open (513-382-1411). The five students already enrolled have made "remarkable progress" the teacher, Jim West, said. Either a fulltime or parttime vocational training course is available and the course is approved for veterans training. West has a background of training as an instructor at his own upholstery shop in Goshen for 10 years, employment with the Duro Corp. as furniture upholsterer and for 11 years as foreman of Haden's Auto Top Co.

Farmer-humorist is speaker at Kiwanis president's party

Emerson Marting, Fayette County farmer, cattleman, auctioneer and humorist, entertained Kiwanians and their guests at the annual Presidents Party Monday night in Lafayette Inn with one humorous story after another and then spoke in a more serious vein about Japan, its people and their way of life.

His impressions of Japan were gained on two visits to that country and from a Japanese girl who was a guest in the Marting home for a year.

He said rice is the principal agricultural product, followed by fruits and vegetables. By American standards, he observed the Japanese farms are small, averaging about 2½ acres. Only about 20 per cent of the country is devoted to agriculture. He commented that he and Mrs. Marting found the Japanese people both energetic and hospitable.

MARTING was introduced by Bob Tice and the meeting was conducted by President-elect Guy Foster.

President George Gibbs introduced the presidents of the 10 other Kiwanis clubs in Division 10-W and their wives. Lt. Gov. Howard Kraft responded for the guests.

The past president's pin and plaque were presented to the Rev. Gerald Wheat and distinguished service awards were presented to Gerald Begin, Roger Kirkpatrick and Tom Mossbarger.

The group was entertained by the Miami Trace Folk Singers, under the direction of Mrs. Cinda Stinson.

Gormley leaves Enquirer post

Thomas R. Gormley, former Record-Herald advertising director, resigned Monday from his position as executive vice president of the Cincinnati Enquirer.

He had been associated with the Enquirer for a total of 37 years in various capacities and also had served as classified advertising manager of the Lima News in addition to his assignment in Washington C. H. from 1957 to 1961.

Gormley, 54, began his working career with the newspaper while attending Bellevue, Ky., High School. Upon graduation, he joined The Enquirer's Kentucky office and later transferred to the advertising division in Cincinnati.

He was named as executive vice president in April and given direct responsibility for all business affairs of the newspaper, including the advertising, circulation and operations division.

Currently first vice president of the International Newspaper Advertising Executives Association, Gormley, who served in the U. S. Navy in World War II, is also past president of the Ohio Newspaper Advertising Executives Association.

He also is a member of the plans board of the Newspaper Advertising Bureau and chairman of the policy committee of the Sunday Metropolitan Newspaper Association.

Saying his plans for the future are indefinite, Gormley observed:

*****

CINCINNATI, Ohio (AP) — U.S. Rep. William J. Keating has ended speculation he would be a Republican candidate for U.S. Senator or Ohio governor by becoming chief executive officer of The Cincinnati Enquirer.

Keating, who did not rule out later political ambitions, also said he would resign his congressional seat from the First District of Ohio Jan. 3. He will take over at the newspaper Nov. 1.

Keating, 46, urged Ohio Gov. John Gilligan to call a special election soon after he leaves Congress to give his successor "a distinct advantage" by gaining seniority in the 93rd Congress. His successor would have to stand for re-election in 1975.

Keating, who said his decision to go to the newspaper would permit him to spend more time with his family — he has seven children, said he still felt he could win a state-wide race.

"I have always felt," he said in a statement, "and will continue to feel, very optimistic about my chance to win a statewide election; and, of course, the decision which I have reached today has come after much anguish. Yet, the combination of being with my family and the challenge of the new position prevailed."

Rose Avenue PTO planning carnival

The Rose Avenue Parent-Teacher Organization is now making plans for its annual chicken and noodle supper and carnival at the school from 5 to 9 p.m. Nov. 10. The carnival will include all of the traditional games and contests. A mini bike, car stereo tape deck, 20-inch bike and other prizes will be awarded.

Plans for the event to raise money to buy equipment for the school were outlined at the PTO meeting last week. The annual Halloween parade also was held in the school at this meeting. Costumes were judged in three categories in the rooms of all five grades and two special classes.
